all these places
had their moments
with lovers and friends
i still recall.
some are dead

STUDENT LIFE

 MIDDLE: The Little Darlings, consisting of Jim Halloran, Bob Furst, and Lenny May (pictured), also Jim Bucar and Bob Lonchar sing Duke of Earl.
 LOWER MIDDLE: Brad Wooden as a typical football player and Norm Wise doing his Big John act.

As the 1975 OABR came once more, CF students again proved they possess the talent and sense of humor to entertain an audience consisting of their peers and families. Students participated, with acts of many different varieties. The highlight of the evening turned out to be five members of the faculty singing songs of the fifties.

As the theme "We shall not pass this way again" stated, the Prom marked one of the last memories the class of '75 had of their high school years. Despite the rain the spirits of the Prom goers were not dampened as the ballroom of the Manakiki Country Club swayed with the tunes of the "John Garrett Group." As the evening came to a close, everyone knew it was a night to remember.

Homecoming Weekend

The traditional 3 day Homecoming weekend sparked the new school year's start with the bonfire, the game, and the dance itself. Although the bonfire was thick with mud, it was a success with the senior men showing their firebuilding genius. Friday night, the Tigers obtained yet another victory while queen Margaret Ingalls and her attendants watched triumphantly from the sidelines. The dance ended an exceptional time of the year which brings the entire student body together.

Senior Women Victorious

The annual Junior-Senior girls football game on October 23 was sparked with some confusion. With 3 minutes and 40 seconds left in the third quarter, the lights went out, causing near mass hysteria. The rest of the game was continued on Sunday. The final score favored the seniors 12-8.

Once again the cheerleaders were as hilarious as the game, with squads of six guys from each grade entertaining the fans.

Pumpkin Roll

Once again the senior men gathered atop Grove Hill to partake in the annual event of the Pumpkin Roll. Since September pumpkins were gathered, and hidden until just the right night. When the time came, pumpkins rolled and splattered, making the hill a very messy sliding place.

TOP: A suspicious character emerges from his car on Grove Hill.

Majorettes Pom-Poms & Flaggies

Adding entertainment to football half-time activities were the majorettes, the flag twirlers, and the pom-pom girls. They all experienced the thrill of performing after many hours of practicing carefully planned out routines.

Latin Club

"The Latin Club is purely a social club," stated a member. Led by Mrs. Lois Klingensmith, the group gets together to have fun and meet people. Speaking or taking Latin is not required. The Latin Club met the second and fourth Monday of every month at either the school or president Roberta Lybarger's house.

This past year the Latin'ers went on dinner outings to the Grecian Gardens and the Fireside Restraunt. The Latin Club also challenged the Spanish Club to a ping-pong match—something new and won! Another of the club's activities centered around socializing, a roller skating party with their old friends the Spanish Club. This year Latin Club was led by Roberta Lybarger, pres.; Doug Revelle, vice-pres.; Gretchen Wilt, sec.; and Janet Gregory, treas.

Spanish Club

The Spanish Club is another of the active student organizations at CFHS. The Spanish Club enjoys doing many exciting and fun activities as well as going on outings. The year started out with the club going to a traditional Spanish restaurant, the "Charro" where the club members dined in an atmosphere with a native Spanish flare. The club also organized and partook in a bowling trip and a roller skating party with the Latin Club.

The club tried to keep organized by meeting every two weeks on Monday. The club members were mostly juniors or third year Spanish students. The club was led by Mrs. Carolyn Hansen. This year's officers were: Betsy Marchitto, pres.; Matt Schneider, vice-pres.; John Shore, treas.; Amy Griffiths, sec.; and Beanie Marchitto, program chairman, made the club a fun pastime.

German Club, open to any interested students, had a good year. Many Wednesdays after school they could be found up at the bowling alley. They traveled to the Hofbrauhaus in October and again in March where they danced the polka and stuffed themselves. Before Christmas the Club had a party and went caroling in German around Chagrin. This year's officers were Joan Oliver and Laura Fisher.

Debate Team

The Debate Team, seven years old at Chagrin, has always been successful. With Mr. Lenny Balk as coach and Dan Mix as president this year was no exception. The club this year went to many out of league tournaments competing and doing well against top schools.

The Debate Club made money from concessions at the basketball games. They also took charge of concessions at the Tour de Chagrin bicycle race. They used the money they made to go to an extra-special competition, the Sylvania Tournament near Toledo, Ohio. The debate team held on almost a constant winning streak and the small group of boys became well acquainted and worked together for a fine year.

“Stage Door”

MIDDLE RIGHT: Debbie Bernard applies Eric Strain's make-up.

RIGHT: Kathy Korcykoski is appalled upon hearing of her daughter Anita Shannon's evening.

From auditions to the cast party, "Stage Door" meant fun for the 32 cast members.

The plot told of a group of aspiring young actresses sharing a slightly run-down New York boardinghouse, the Footlights Club. A few determined girls continued to make the rounds to manager's offices, holding out for a break into Broadway stardom, while others, more easily discouraged, married or eventually gave up hope of acting.

During the day, the girls rehearsed or scrounged for jobs, but at night they dated a stream of males who ranged from "loads of lumber" to Hollywood script-writers and producers.

Set at time when the growing picture industry was taking predominance over "the legitimate stage," "Stage Door" emphasized the hopes and fears, as well as the few successes and continuing struggles of the stage-struck girls.

Of the large cast, Director Harold Loesch noted, "In educational theatre, involvement by large numbers is essential. "Stage Door" afforded us that. Blocking twenty-one high school girls at the same time in a single scene can be interesting. But it worked." He concluded, "The cast and crew captured the essence of the play creating a memorable theatrical experience."

TOP: Bill and Connie glare at each other.

Technical Club

The Technical Club was a small group of hardworking students who helped with the many CFHS dramatic and musical productions. They were responsible for lighting, props, curtains, and other back-stage necessities. The club quietly performed its duties during the fall play, the Christmas and spring concerts, and the spring musical.

WCOM

WCOM had another successful year of providing students with music in the Commons. Various student disc jockeys worked the station during their free periods. With the ever-increasing record library students enjoyed the popular rock hits played by WCOM. Mr. Wade Tolleson supervised the operation of the radio station.

Photography Club

Under the direction of Ms. Gini Dunlap the Photography Club provided dark-room facilities to any student interested. Students were given the opportunity to work with each other, to compare their photography and share ideas.

Leaders

Leaders Club is made years of fun-loving junior and senior girls. They participate in their Tuesday afternoon activities and they find plenty of time for feasting.

The Leaders are traditionally known for their silly initiation ceremonies of dressing up ridiculously and parade around school for a day, stuffing the already established leaders with candy and cookies.

They partake in various rousing activities including kickball, soccer, basketball, and volleyball. The club was led by Ann Komlo (Pres.), Pat Blades (V.P.), and Wendy Whyman (Sec.).

RIGHT: Nancy Murray, Gina Tognini, and Julie Schlinder wearing the initiation outfits. BELOW: Ann Bunzli refs basketball in gym. The Hockey Club this year played six games, ending with an even season of three wins and three losses. The team played well and many of the games were close and tough. The club was a well-balanced combination of veterans and rookies.

FTA

Future Teachers of America was made up of students with a desire to learn about elementary education. By helping teachers with their classes at Lewis Sands during their free periods members had the opportunity to read stories, help with art projects, watch the children at recess, grade papers, and occasionally teach simple lessons. Some FTA members helped with the special education classes.

The club as a group held pot-luck dinners and planned a field trip to the Cleveland Society for the Blind Sight Center to explore other fields of education.

FTA, whose fifteen members regularly went to Lewis Sands, was headed by Linda Giltz (Pres.), Nancy Evans (V.P.), Reed McLellan (Treas.), and Sue Nickel (Sec.).

CAB

Commons Activities Board (CAB) had a busy year. They tried to keep the students interested and entertained in the Commons. The breakfast line was continued serving doughnuts, coffee and hot chocolate to customers who missed breakfast at home. CAB was led by Jodi Sipser (Pres.) and faculty advisor Mr. Dale Richmond.

NHS

In the traditional candlelight ceremony in the gym, the National Honor Society inducted 22 juniors in April of 1975. On a basis of character, scholarship, leadership and service, a panel of teachers selects NHS members from applicants who must have a B grade average.

In October nine more seniors were accepted into NHS. The club celebrated their induction by eating punch and cookies in the library.

This year, aside from the tutoring service offered by NHS, they planned to compile a booklet of college descriptions written by former NHS members. They also held a "brownie" Christmas party.

The 1975-76 NHS officers were: Carl Falsgraf, president; Kathy Korcykoski, vice-president; and Wendy Whyman, secretary-treasurer.

Prism

The Prism, the school literary magazine, had a very productive year. In order to make the Prism a true reflection of student ideas, the aim was for a variety of submissions from a variety of people. Short stories, poetry, photography and all kinds of art work were accepted from students. Teachers of English and Art encouraged their students to submit work to the Prism.

The literary and art boards met regularly to review and judge student submissions. The Prism was headed by editor Margaret Ingalls, asst. editor Lori Bares, literary editor Jody Distad, art editor Sally Ebert, promotion head Beth Boyle, publicity head Betti Byrd, and advisor Mrs. Jenkins.

The 1975-76 VALLEY LANTERN, headed by co-editors Debbie Bridges and Belinda Castle, appeared every three weeks.

The eight-page glossy paper sold for 10 cents a copy. It regularly featured record reviews, sports columns, "Bit of Bull" photo pages, bicentennial column and gossip tidbits.

Eric Skarl took most of the Lantern's pictures and the paper published Bill Watterson's cartoons.

A special 10-page issue featuring Valentine messages sold well. Near the end of the year, the paper carried seniors' "Last Wills and Testaments."

The Lantern sponsored two dances to help finance the high costs of publication.

Commenting on the year, Debbie Bridges said, "The hectic deadlines and late-night meetings were all worth it when the final product arrived from the printer."

"I really enjoyed working on the paper and I believe the staff did too. I hope the students liked the LANTERN as much as we did," remarked Belinda Castle.

Zenith

The Zenith staff this year tried to give the students of CFHS what they wanted to see in their yearbook. Group pictures of clubs and sports were taken and the News section was repeated. To try and get more pictures of different people the Miscellaneous section was added. An opinion poll was put into the Student Life section to get student reactions to this school year.

The price remained the same as last year as the amount of color and number of pages were not increased. The staff took advantage of hardworking photographers and talented cartoonist Bill Waterson.

In June of 1975, editor Rachel Ward, assistant editor Chris Chernak and two other staff members attended a week-long yearbook workshop at Hiram College. The workshop displayed the latest trends in lay-out and copy from all over the country.

The staff experienced a hectic year, as usual, but enjoyed the feeling of accomplishment when the book was finally completed.

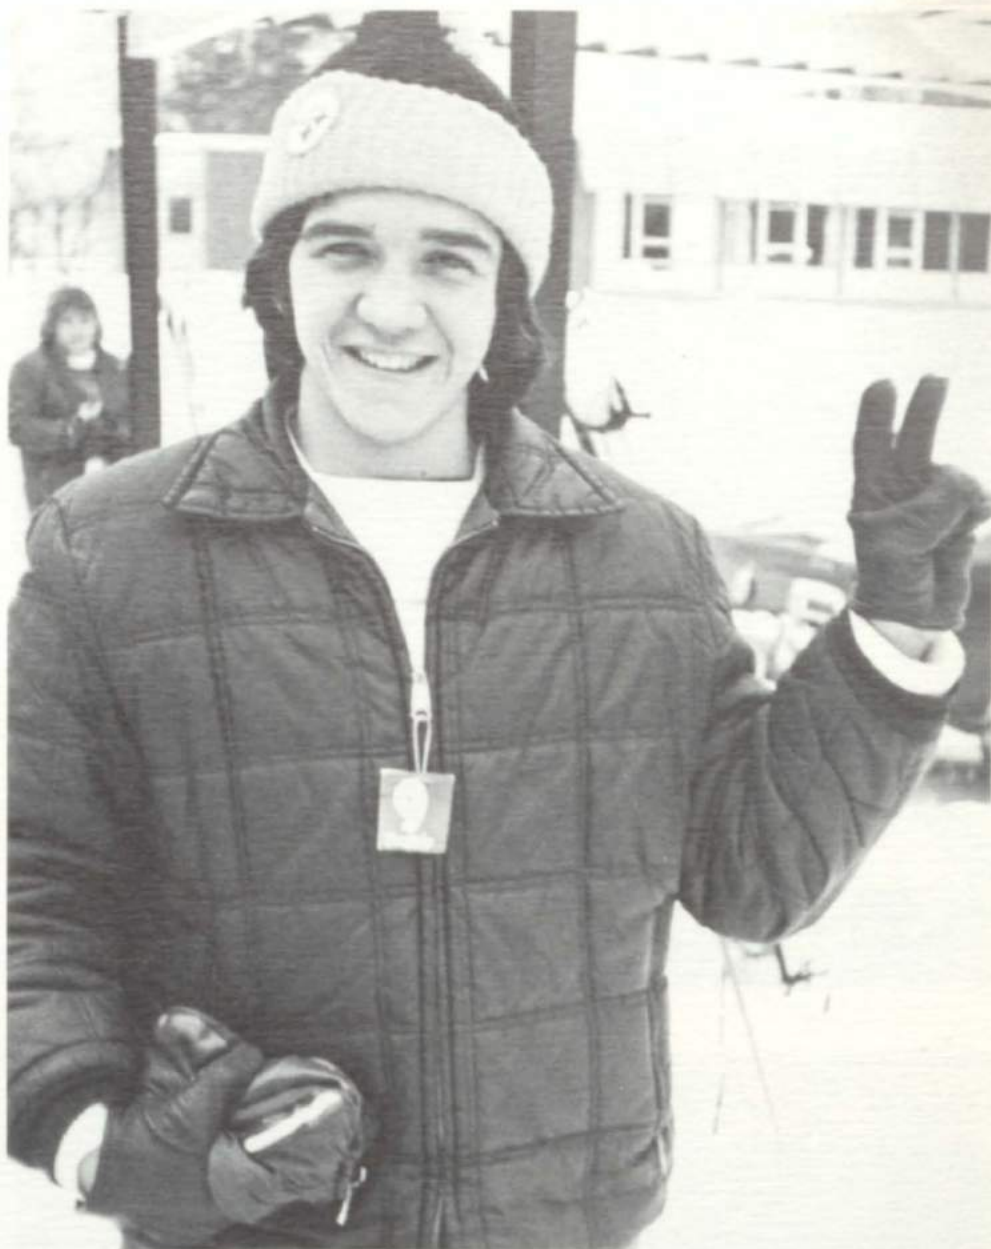

AFS

Jaime Barrera from Ecuador and Isabelle deCourreges from France were Chagrin's American Field Service students this year. AFS made an effort this year to hold activities with other schools. This gave members an opportunity to meet a variety of other students, foreign and domestic. They held a square dance with the Solon AFS'ers, a pot-luck dinner with Beachwood and lots of pot-luck dinners for just Chagrin.

AFS planned and sponsored "An Old Fashioned Christmas" formal in December.

In February, junior AFS finalist Tom Shields was sent off to Bolivia to attend a year of school. Ian Gauld and Mariellen West were Chagrin's other local finalists.

AFS student chapter officers were Sue Rose (Pres.), Steve Hartsock (V.P.), Larry Meyer (Treas.) and Martha Beattie (Sec.). Kathy Speacht served as the liaison between the adult and student chapters and Mr. John Ginatos was advisor to the student group.

Student Council

Student Council had many goals this year. Their main one was to establish better communication between students and the administration. Breakfasts and lunches were organized where students and council members got together to talk over student opinions and suggestions. New students were welcomed by council members and helped to adjust to their new environment.

To raise money for United Torch Student Council sponsored a Mr. Legs 1975 contest. Students contributing their extra change voted Tom Shields to have the sexiest legs. Tiger mugs were sold and dances were held to help Council's financial situation.

Student Council was led this year by Eric Strain (Pres.), Sue Rose (V.P.), and faculty advisor Mrs. Carol Kayser.

On Monday, the 26th of January, Spirit Week began with an exciting test of student's skill at the ancient art of paper airplane flying. There was an excellent turnout of competitors and junior Rick Huggett came away with first prize, and $5.00.

On Tuesday, teams of courageous young men from each class tried their hand at pushing a Volkswagen around the road in front of the high school. The seniors won in record-breaking time of 53 seconds.

On Wednesday, a cake contest was held and freshman Debbie Hallstrom's bi-centennial cake took 1st prize.

Thursday saw an enthusiastic co-ed team of 10 athletes from each class compete in the "Junior Olympics". Doing anything from serenading the student body with crackers in their mouths to passing a matchbox from nose to nose, to shelling peanuts and feeding them to team members blindfolded, the Olympians entertained and brightened up an otherwise dull day. The sophomores ended up the victors but many calls were close.

On Friday, the last day of Spirit Week, a group of students coached by senior Bill Stoneman challenged the faculty to a basketball game for after school. The students put up a good fight but fell to the skill of the faculty.

Remarked a student council member, "Spirit Week was as successful as we had hoped."

“Anything Goes”

Chagrin Falls High School Music and Drama Departments combined their efforts this year to present “Anything Goes” a musical comedy written by Cole Porter.

In four performances on April 1st thru 4th, the curtain rose onto an American luxury liner, the American, bound for England. Among the vacationers are Reno Sweeney, an ex-evangelist turned nightclub singer and her four “fallen angels”, Purity, Chastity, Charity, and Virtue. Also traveling to Europe are Mrs. Harcourt, a social climber and her debutante daughter, Hope. Mrs. Harcourt has arranged the engagement of her daughter to a middle-aged Englishman, Sir Evelyn Oakleigh. Billy Crocker, an enterprising businessman, sails on the American to break up Hope’s engagement and take Evelyn’s place. He enlists Reno’s help to keep Evelyn occupied. Complicating the plot are the humorous antics of Moonface Martin, an aspiring gangster and his dingbat girlfriend, Bonnie.

The 90-member chorus and dancing company of 22 worked to Cole Porter’s lively songs.

Mrs. Mollie Macknin directed both the chorus and orchestra. Mr. Harold Loesch, assisted by student directors Kathleen Peters and Jennifer Orme, was dramatic supervisor. Miss Karen Haas choreographed the show. Senior Dave Horejs headed the technical crew. The play was a great success.

Dan North: The thing I am most looking forward to is getting out of school, but I have a lot of good memories from my senior year: the Kenston bomb, the pumpkin roll, and more.

Jeff Coleman: School wasn't very much different than any other year. The classes were easier than I expected, especially government.

Julie Taylor: It is fun being a senior, but at times I can't wait to leave, and other times when I think about it, it is really sad. This has been my best year.

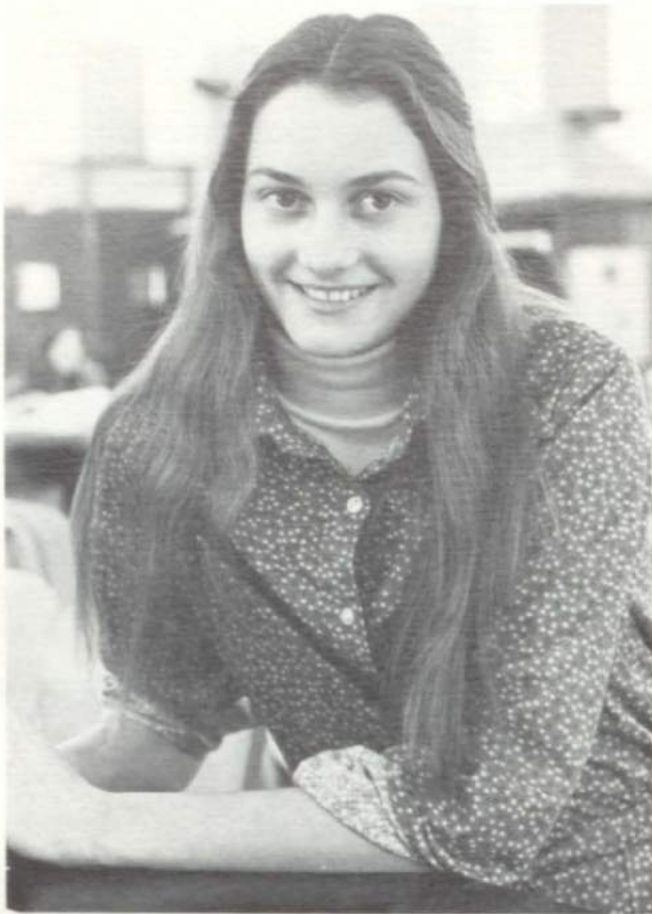

Dallas Ward: This year was a new experience for me, meeting all the new people. Chagrin is a nice little place.

Nancy Murray: During my junior year, I found the pleasures and problems of high school to be more intense than those of the previous two years. Although, from these experiences, I learned patience and the ability to accept and respect different opinions and life styles of other people.

Carl Zaboly: My junior year has taught me to accept failures and I've learned that competition isn't everything.

Karen Komlo: My sophomore year has been really good, partly because I have had a lot more freedom and sports were more exciting.

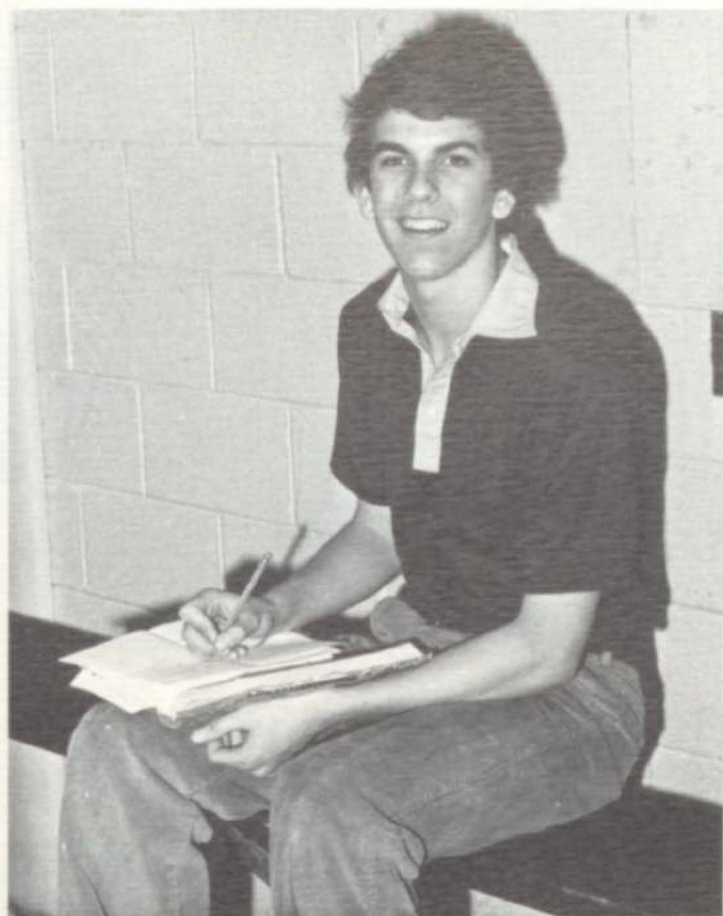

Doug Revelle: I didn't like my sophomore year as much as my freshman year, because the classes seemed harder and the teachers were stricter.

John Clegg: This year was better for me than my freshman year, because I wasn't called a little freshman any more.

Julie Phend: This year hasn't been very good for me because it seems that some of the teachers care more about kids cutting classes, walking in the halls, and leaving school than learning.

John Zachem: My freshman year has been a lot of fun and not as difficult as I had expected it to be. I have really enjoyed it.

Julie Webster: Although I got a little over involved in after-school activities, I have really enjoyed my freshman year. I had the chance to meet a lot of new people and make a lot of new friends.

Alan Pfeiffer: I like the high school a lot more than the middle school because I have a lot more freedom and responsibility.

Tracy Burton: When I was in eighth grade, I heard a lot of rumors about what my freshman year would be like, but none of them were true. This year has been great.

Ski Club grew this year in membership and enthusiasm. Regular trips to Brandywine, weather permitting, on Tuesday evenings required two busses to transport all of the eager skiers. Under the supervision of Mr. Jim Howell, a variety of brave novices to experienced skiers gathered for fun and learning. With the arrival of students on crutches at school everyone knew winter had come and the ski club was once again on the go.

Varsity Football

After their loss to Akron-Norton in the opening game of the 1975 football season, the Tigers came back to show their strength by ending the season boasting an 8-2 record. Despite the cold, rain, mud and mosquitos, the Tigers pulled through to walk away with the conference championship. This season was highlighted by many unforgettable memories: the mud-bowl with Solon, Groth to Behler pass which beat Kenston 7-0, holding Solon on the 4th down at the Chagrin 3 yard line, and who could ever forget the defensive game against Aurora. The Tigers again came out on top by placing 8 players on the all league team. Receiving honors were Wes Brewer, Bob Giesse, Doug Groth, Steve Hollis, Bill McCowan, Tom Powell, Jim Shelley and Jim Varnum.

JV and Freshmen Football

After starting their season with 2 non-league losses, the JV football team improved to win their next 5 games. A tough defense aided by a powerful rushing attack made it possible for the JV gridders to accumulate 5 shut-outs during the season. A strong passing attack in the last few minutes of the game led the Tigers to an 8-0 victory over visiting Orange. This was the JV's first defeat of arch-rival Orange in the past 10 years. The 1975 JV football team coached by Jack Stanton and Dan Ehrenbeit ended their season with a well-balanced 5-5 record.

The freshman football team had a successful year under coaches Bill Morgan and Frank McWhorter.

Varsity Soccer

The addition of night games under the lights at Harris Stadium inspired the 1975 soccer team to have their best season in years. The night games drew many fans which helped the team come alive. The well-balanced team played to a 9-4-2 season, and even their losses were games to be proud of. The Tigers played their best games against the tough Shaker Heights, and North Royalton teams, and played especially well when they met Brecksville, the top team in the state. The prospects for next year's team look particularly good as there are a number of returning players; including sophomore Chris Riethmiller, Chris, along with seniors Carl Falsgraf, Rick Anderson, and Glen Goodrich made the all-league team.

An excellent J.V. season produced a number of fine prospects for next year's varsity team. Volleyball

A lot of spirit went into girls volleyball in '76. The girls had some trouble working as a team early in the season but when they did all pull together the results were great. The tournaments proved an exciting climax for a greatly improved team. The inexperience that sometimes hindered the team should be corrected next year when ten of the girls return.

A team made up completely of underclassmen lead the Chagrin golf team through a fair season. They took third in the league behind Orange and Kenston. Most of the home matches were played at Punderson golf course and were 9-hole matches. Rain often dampened the greens, but unlike last year, they never had to tee-off in the snow. Next years team, which will have all of this year's players returning, shows promise of doing well.

Varsity Wrestling

The 1975-1976 Varsity Wrestling Team ended their season with a 1-6 league record. Lack of a heavyweight again hampered the team as it did last year. Dave Bassage, Glenn Goodrich, Bob Schutte, and Carl Falsgraf all won the majority of their matches. Two freshmen consistently started in Varsity positions this year and did a fine job. All team members did a good job and they have an optimistic outlook for next year's squad.

Varsity Basketball

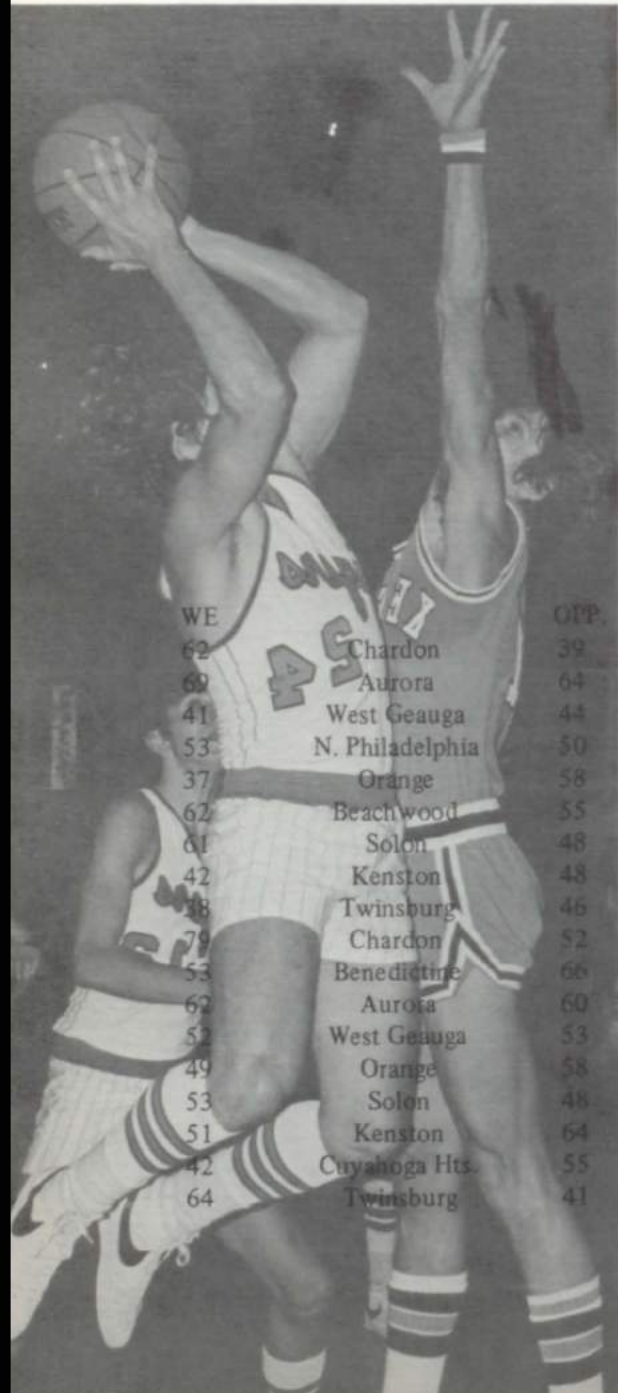

Chagrin Falls Tigers battled out their 1975-1976 basketball season to stand respectably in 5th place in the Chagrin Valley league. Contrary to what the season record shows there was never a dull moment in those hard fought games where you could be behind one minute and quickly shoot ahead the next, or vice versa.

Four seniors, Greg Behler, Doug Groth, Mike McCourt and Frank Swanek started consistently for the Tigers. Rich Bistriz, a junior, rounded out the five.

We were all proud of their performance as was evident by the great turnout of fans at the games.

J.V. & Frosh B-Ball

Chagrin J.V. and Frosh cagers helped make basketball big in the valley this year. Learning a number of complex plays and how to execute them, improving defensive skills and winning a number of games was all a part of the Junior Varsity season.

A big freshman team that played and practiced hard made Tiger fans look forward to excellent Varsity teams in the next few years.

Girls B-Ball

It was a year of rebuilding for the girls basketball teams after losing their top three scorers to graduation last year. The outlook for next year is promising with only a few seniors leaving in June.

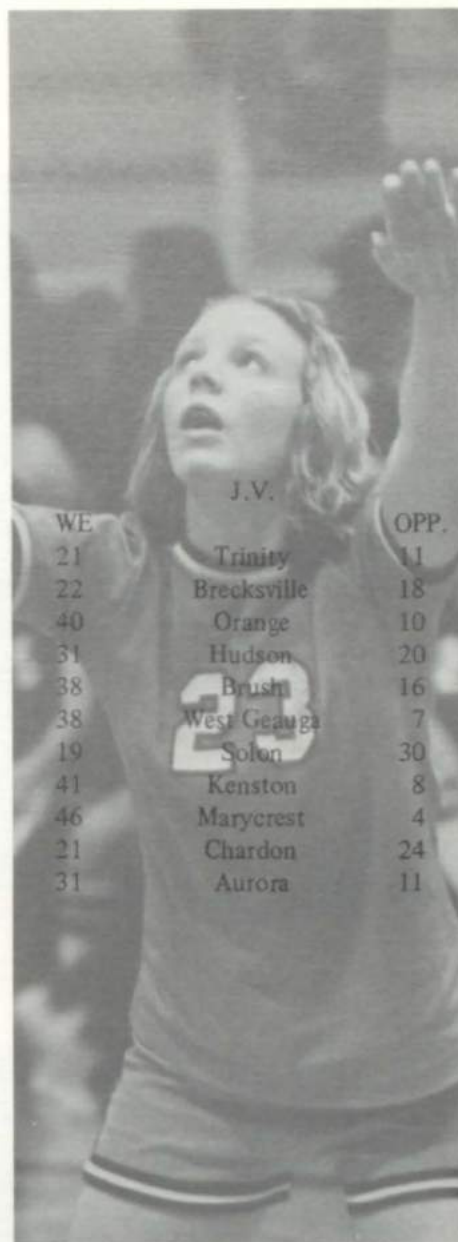

The girls, coached by Mr. Robert Ohlrich, had a fine season, involving many long hours of practice, injured ankles, female referees and small audiences at gametime.

This was the first year of state tournaments for girls basketball.

Gymnastics

Grace, poise, talent, strength are four essentials for success in gymnastics and in 1976, the girls put it all together. The team was strong on every event: bars, beam, floor and horse. This is evident as they finished their season with a 12-1 record. Many girls competed in the sectionals and moved on to districts.

Sunny weather and cheering home crowds helped make the baseball season one to be proud of. Our offense dominated many games, particularly against Newbury where we won 19-7. Last year's track season proved worthwhile. It had many bright spots. The Tigers were especially strong in the high jump, the long jump, the quarter and half mile runs, and the hurdles. The team yielded league winners and one state qualifier in the long jump, Chris Stewart.

The girls track team had an outstanding year. They won all their meets but one, and placed high in the invitational meets. Coached by Mr. Jim Halloran the team yielded state qualifiers.

Varsity Cheerleaders

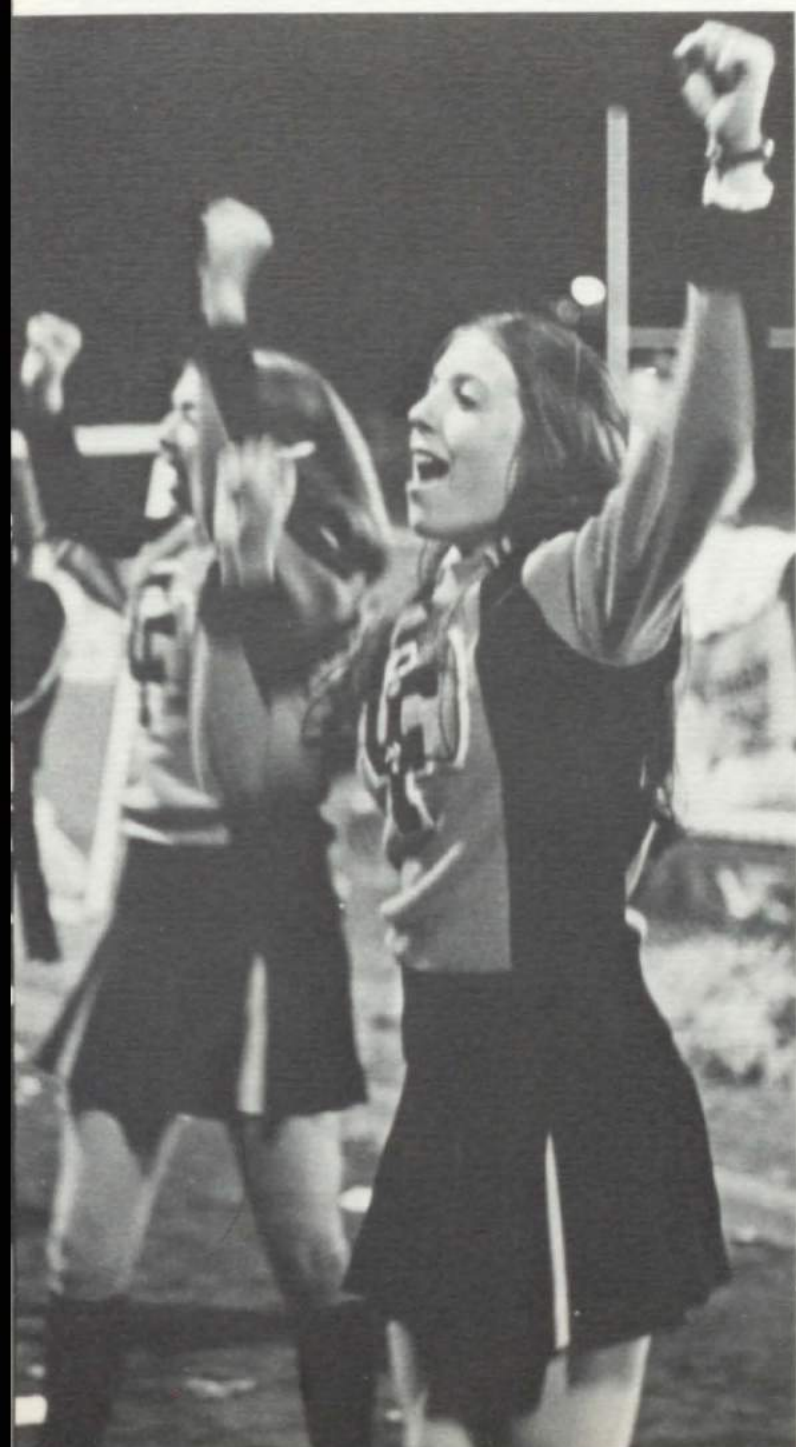

From summer workshops and stuffing lockers with tags and treats, to never-ending support at games and attending the athletic banquets; the varsity cheerleaders work hard all year to let our teams know we're behind them. The varsity Football-Wrestling cheerleaders came through despite many rainy nights lead by senior Donna McGlincy. The Basketball-Soccer cheerleaders showed that an all-junior squad could be successful with their cheery smiles and well-balanced mounts.

ACADEMICS

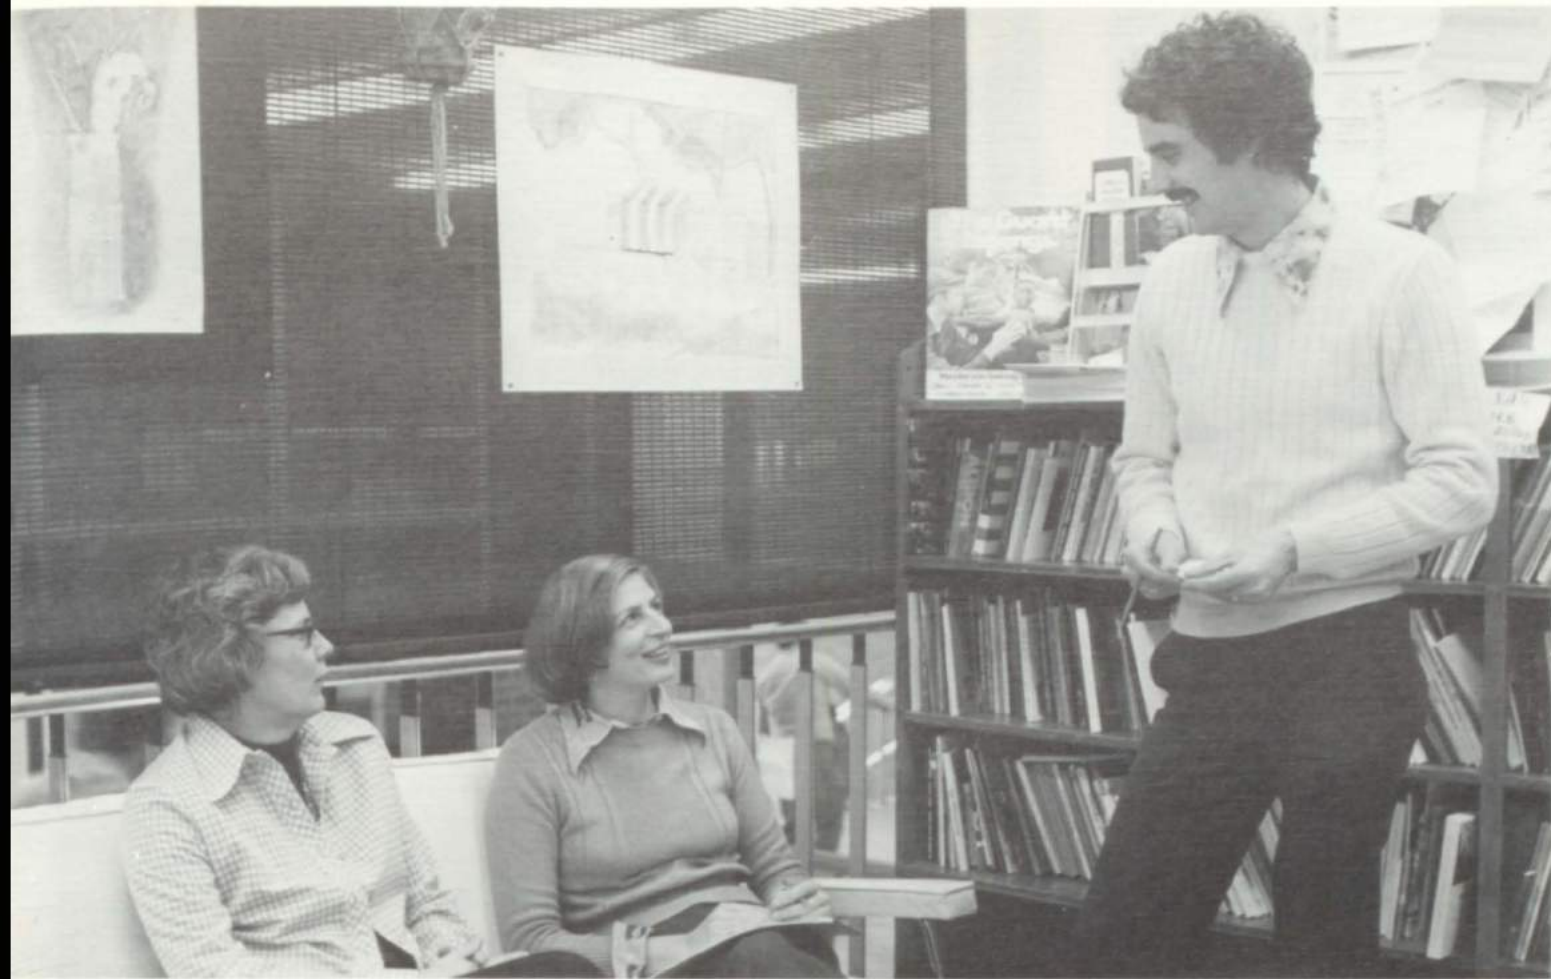

AUTHORITY & GUIDANCE

There were no personnel changes in the administration this year but there were a few changes of policy. An effort was made to make students more aware of the importance of being on time—to school and to class. Other than these few minor refinements the hardworking administration, Mr. John Gaydosh and Mr. Dale Richmond, remained the same and tried to stay open-minded and in touch with the students.

The Guidance Department this year has continued their efforts to expose the students to all the aspects of education available and to tie in learning with what the students plan to do after high school. The fearless counselors Miss Doris Knight, Mr. Roger Messier and Miss Helen Kryshlawych guided us through another year.

OFFICE & LIBRARY

Not everyone notices all the paperwork and other services that keeps a school running. To be sure, office secretaries Mrs. Kagy, Mrs. Schoeppner, Mrs. May, and Mrs. Crawford realize that all the miscellaneous jobs are important. They are responsible for making sure these jobs are done. They serve as aids to the administration, guidance counselors, and the students.

Also to be recognized for their services are librarian Miss Mary Meyers and assistants Mrs. Carol Barber and Mrs. Nancy Garrett. Keeping the library organized and quiet and helping students locate needed materials isn't easy. They are definitely a dedicated staff.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

The Foreign Language Department study has been working on many new methods of teaching. In some classes, the traditional teaching program has been used while in others more individualized study has been stressed. With the use of audio-visual equipment and trips to foreign countries students had the chance to bring each language into better perspective.

Next year three new language courses, a special topics course in French, Spanish, and German, will be offered. The prerequisite for these courses is that students must have completed two years of that specific language. Students enrolled in these courses may select a specific area of study, such as translation, grammar, reading, history, and music. These courses offer $\frac{1}{4}$ to full credit and they may be repeated.

ENGLISH

The English elective program underwent several changes this year. Students still have the opportunity to choose their own English classes, but there were several restrictions this year. Students were required to take certain kinds of elective classes, such as reading, composition and communication. Department head, Mr. Louis Papes, said that next year there will be a "concerted effort to improve composition in all courses".

To keep the courses in demand, Mr. Papes has begun to "cycle" the courses. As a result, classes will be offered every other year instead of every year. Consequently, there will not be as much of a variety as in recent years. This will enable teachers to direct more attention to their assigned courses.

The English department is a basically individualized program. Classes center on student's interests, ability, and motivation. It is hoped that the English department will remain as successful as it was this year.

The elective system this year was still in popular demand in the History department. Though the state requires one full year of American History, CFHS students can choose between a number of quarter courses to meet these requirements. These quarter courses can be spread out over a period of 2 years instead of the one full year course.

The History department was headed by Mr. Robert Dean and when asked to comment on the elective system, he replied "Great!, If I didn't like it, I wouldn't be using it." The only problems he could see with the elective program were that students might not get the full survey of American History that is desired.

No new classes were added to the history teaching schedule, so teachers had a chance to perfect their regular courses.

The Math Department at CFHS offers a variety of classes ranging, from basic algebra to the more advanced trigonometry and calculus classes.

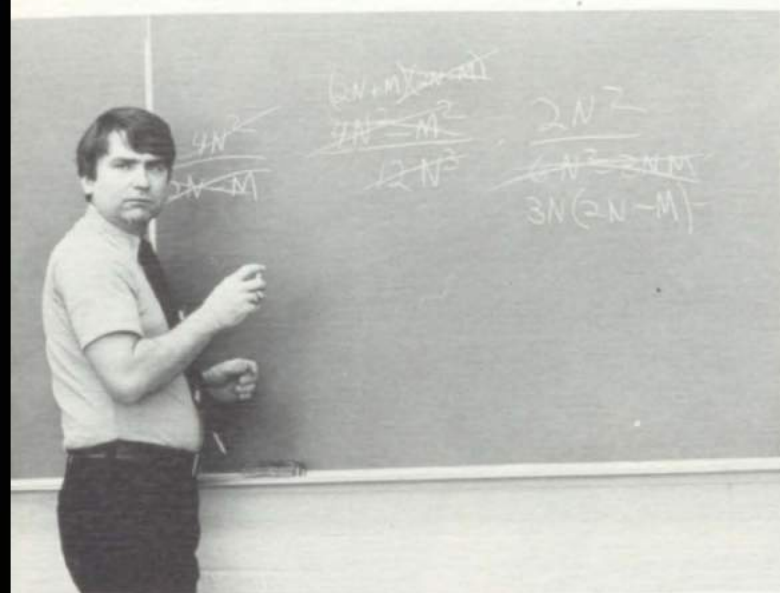

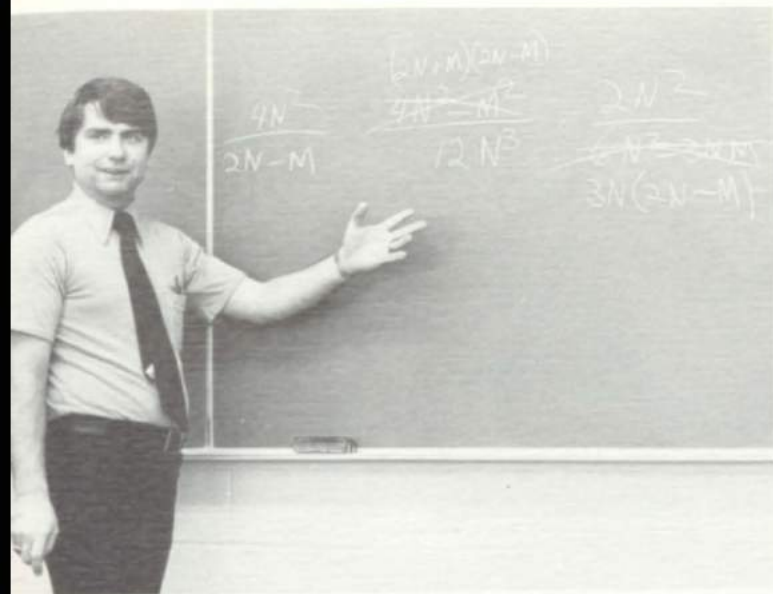

Students are required to take only one year of math for graduation, but the majority of students continue on to 2nd and 3rd year mathematics. The advanced students, taking Algebra I in eighth grade, have the opportunity to follow Chagrin accelerated math program. Students not participating in the accelerated program can still take advantage of Chagrin's fine Math Department.

The science department is basically sound. No new courses or teachers were added this year.

The science program offers courses for the average science student along with courses for the exceptionally talented science students.

As a sophomore, a talented student can be accepted into the accelerated Chemistry class taught by Mr. Neal Wheatcraft. To be accepted into this class, one must have done above-average in Biology and Math their freshman year. After having successfully completed Chemistry, the students then proceed to Harvard Physics their junior year.

Team teaching was still utilized this year in the Biology classes. Teachers, Mr. John Hurst and Mr. Ramon Battles, once again alternated "large group" lectures. Students worked with assigned classes for lab work and practical tests.

PHYS. ED

The Gym program has remained basically unchanged. The boys gym classes centered on conditioning and skill building. Basketball, wrestling, football, volleyball, rope climbing, and running composed the basic format of their classes.

The girls learned the basics of field hockey, soccer, basketball, volleyball and gymnastics.

In addition to the daily routines of approximately once a week the gym classes went co-ed to square dance and go bowling or roller skating.

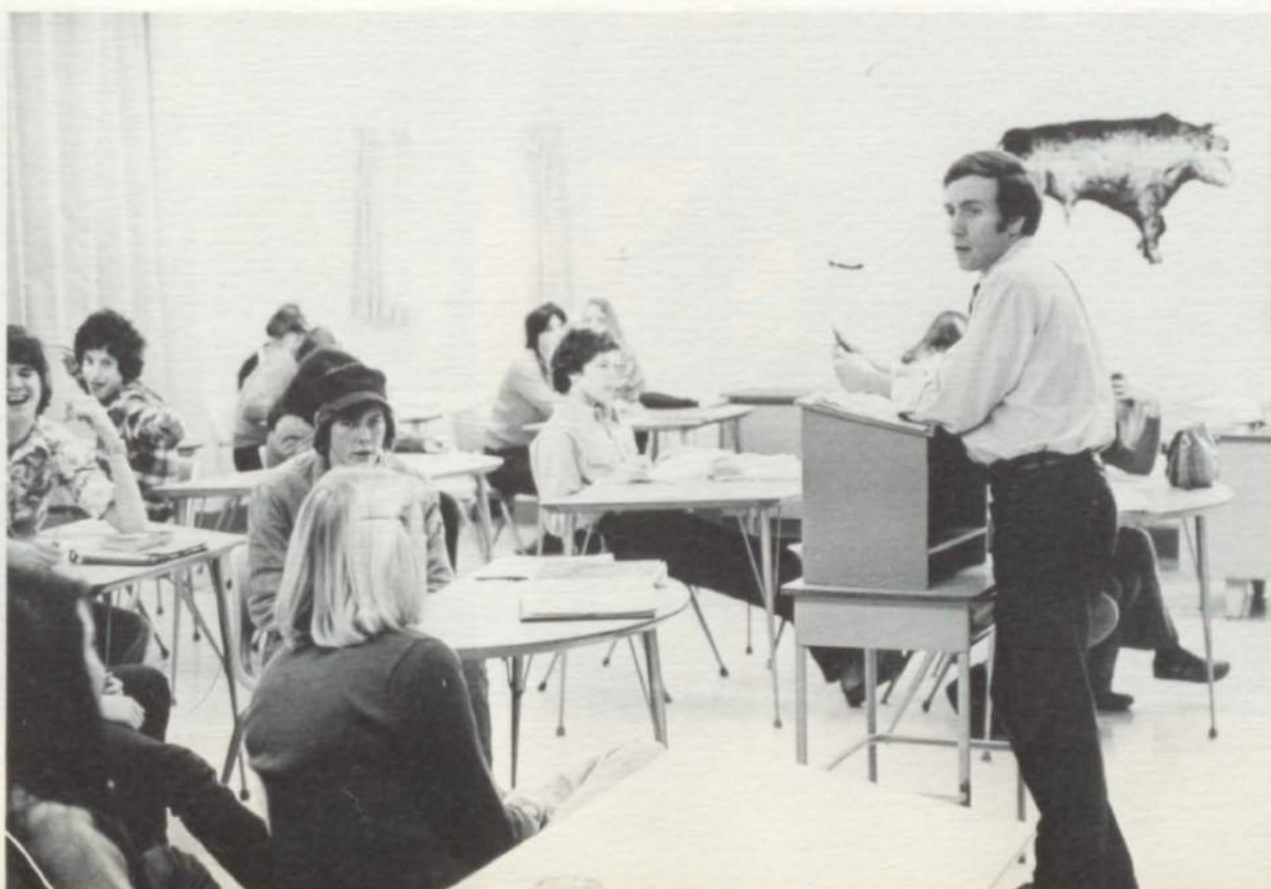

HEALTH

The Health program was changed this year with the installation of Mr. Jim Halloran, teaching the half year of instruction on emotional, social, and physical well-being.

This year, several movies and speakers as an aid to class members. Among the films shown, "The Story of Eric" was once again greeted with enthusiasm. The viewing of this movie about live child/birth has been successful thus far and it is hoped the tradition will be continued.

The Art department has always been successful in guiding the school's fine young artists. Students are given the opportunity to enter several local and national art shows. This year eight students had their work accepted in the Halle's Scholastic Art Exhibit. Three out of the eight students received special awards for their masterpieces.

The elective system is fairly new in the Art department. Students are required to take Art I and II before any other specialized courses, with the exception of a nine-week Art appreciation course, Michelangelo to Picasso.

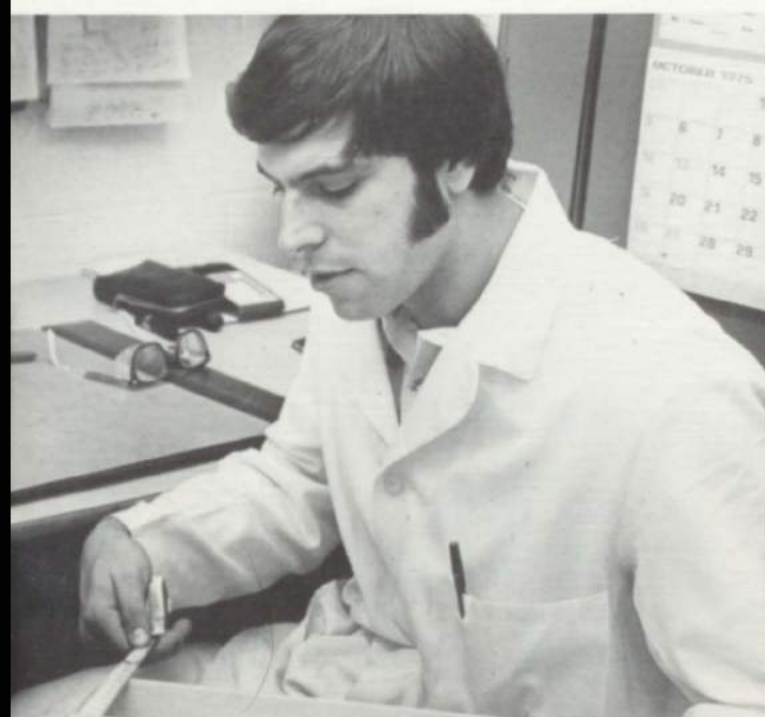

ARTS

Shop courses are set up to help students develop a real skill in the industrial arts, either working with woods or metals or technical drawings. In these classes students learn useful techniques applicable in the future when searching for jobs.

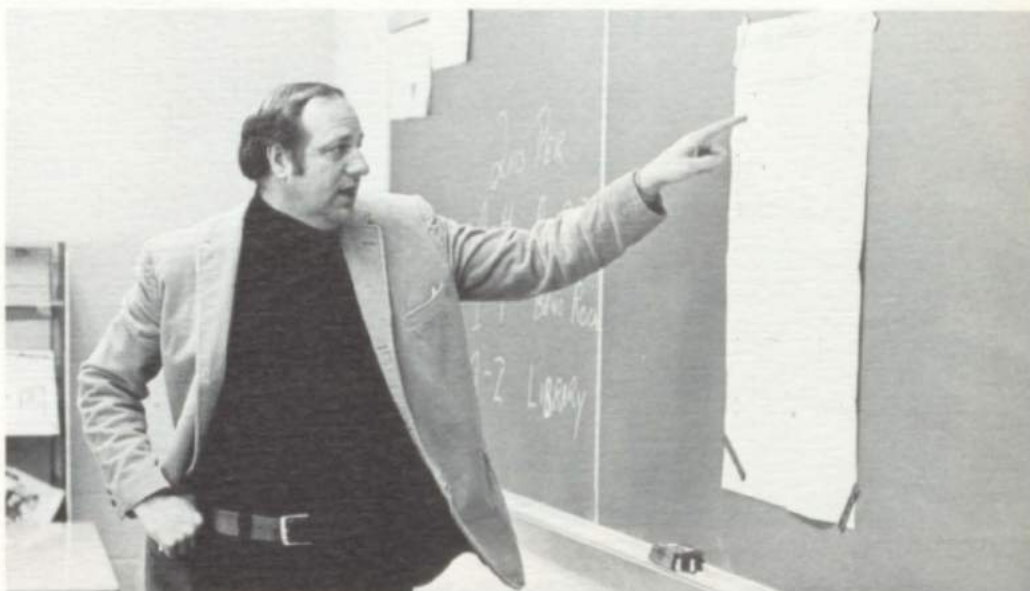

Shop classes have recently gone co-ed. This year the enrollment of females reached a high point. The girls braved the embarrassment they had anticipated and things eventually ran smoothly. Students, boys and girls, became compatible with each other and with the equipment they used.

LOWER RIGHT: Mr. Girard working hard to keep everybody's job schedules right.

OWE/DCT

The objective of Occupational Work Experience (OWE) and Diversified Cooperative Training (DCT) is to give a student the basic knowledge he needs to develop a skill that can be immediately applicable in the world of work. The requirements for OWE are that students be 16 years old and have the motivation to work. The more work a student puts into it, the more he will get out of it. DCT members must be seniors. Students still attend some regular classes, but spend the majority of the day on-the-job.

DCT/OWE is instructed by Mr. Pete Olah, Mr. John Glaser and Mr. Fred Girard. They are not only thought of as teachers, but they are also helpful friends.

CHOIR

Under the direction of Mrs. Mollie Macknin the CFHS choir completed a very eventful season.

The choir started the year by singing at the raising of the Chagrin Falls Bicentennial Flag in October. The choir then presented a Thanksgiving and Christmas assembly to the student body. After the Christmas concert keeping in the past tradition, a fun journey was taken to sing in Cleveland at the Arcade. Most of the choir members went shopping taking advantage of their "day off". This year's choir made a first by competing in contest, held at Orange High School. Contest is a competition where rated Northeast Ohio school choirs show their skills for performing. Besides preparing for "contest", the choir was busy with working on the Spring Musical, "Anything Goes," by Cole Porter.

In keeping with the Bicentennial, all music presented at the Spring concert was written by American composers.

The choir worked diligently and as one member noted, "It was a blast!"

The Band not only has a busy year but a busy summer preceeding it. Three band members went to Band Camp in Columbus for a week, some of the band members went to Baldwin Wallace College for two weeks and a group went to Geauga Lake Park to give a concert. There they were treated to free rides all day.

In addition to the traditional half-time performances at Chagrin's football games the band gave several concerts for a wide range of audiences. The highlight of the year was performing with the Orange High School Band in the pre-game activities of the Cleveland Browns victorious game against the Cincinnati Bengals.

Each year the ratio of boys to girls becomes more balanced in the Home Economics and Business courses. Boys are realizing the advantages of mastering the practical skills of typing and the convenience of cooking and sewing experience. With the addition of the nine-week Bachelor Survival course (for males and females) students can learn the basics without spending a semester or year perfecting their skills.

Events in the news in 1975 included New York's City's struggle with near bankruptcy, and the starting of new lives for Vietnam refugees in America. The Russian Soyuz and the American Apollo met in space for the first time with the two countries working towards a better understanding of each other.

The two women were convicted for separate assassination attempts on President Ford, and Patricia Hearst was captured.

The year witnessed many controversial issues, but achieved many goals as the U.S. approached her 200th birthday.

The twelfth Winter Olympic Games in Innsbruck, Austria, highlighted the sports year. Dorothy Hamill, Peter Mueller and Shelia Young brought home three gold medals for the U.S. in skating. The U.S. won ten medals in all. Rosi Mittermaier of West Germany captivated millions with her skiing ability. The summer games will be held in Montreal.

Last fall, the Cincinnati Reds defeated the Boston Red Sox in the seventh game of the World Series. Pete Rose of the Reds was named Sportsman of the Year.

In football the Pittsburgh Steelers won the Super Bowl over the Dallas Cowboys. The biggest upset came when Ohio State fell to UCLA in the Rose Bowl.

The U.S. was over-welmed by the year's number one movie "JAWS", which brought about "sharkmania." Frequent ocean-goers avoided the water for fear of the great shark. Disaster movies such as "Earthquake" and "The Towering Inferno" left movie-goers awe-stricken.

In the T.V. world, a CFHS survey concluded that "Happy Days" was the favorite among students. The "Fonz" became a national hero along with Kotter's "sweathogs". Detective shows became increasingly popular.

The Captain and Tennille became an instant success with their top no. hit "Love will keep us together". John Denver and Olivia Newton-John walked away with many American Music Awards. According to a WMMS survey, Bruce Springsteen had the number one album of 1975.

Fashion And Fads

1975-76 saw little change in the fashion world, but CFHS developed its own particular style of dress. Although girls enjoyed wearing dresses and skirts, casual attire dominated our fashion scene. Girls and guys were found in levi's and painters pants along with pullover sweaters and rugby shirts.

The year also witnessed a number of fads that swept the U.S. While some people were desperately trying to coax their pet rocks into rolling over, others were determining their emotions by the colors of their mood rings.

TENNIAL

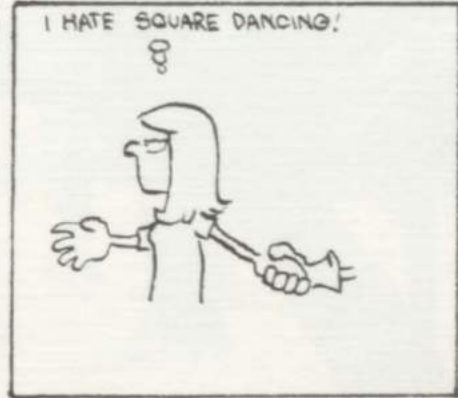

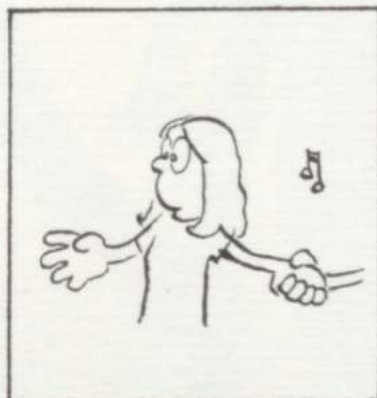

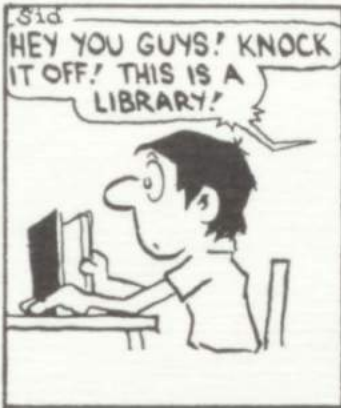

The observance of the Bicentennial added an extra incentive to the year's events.

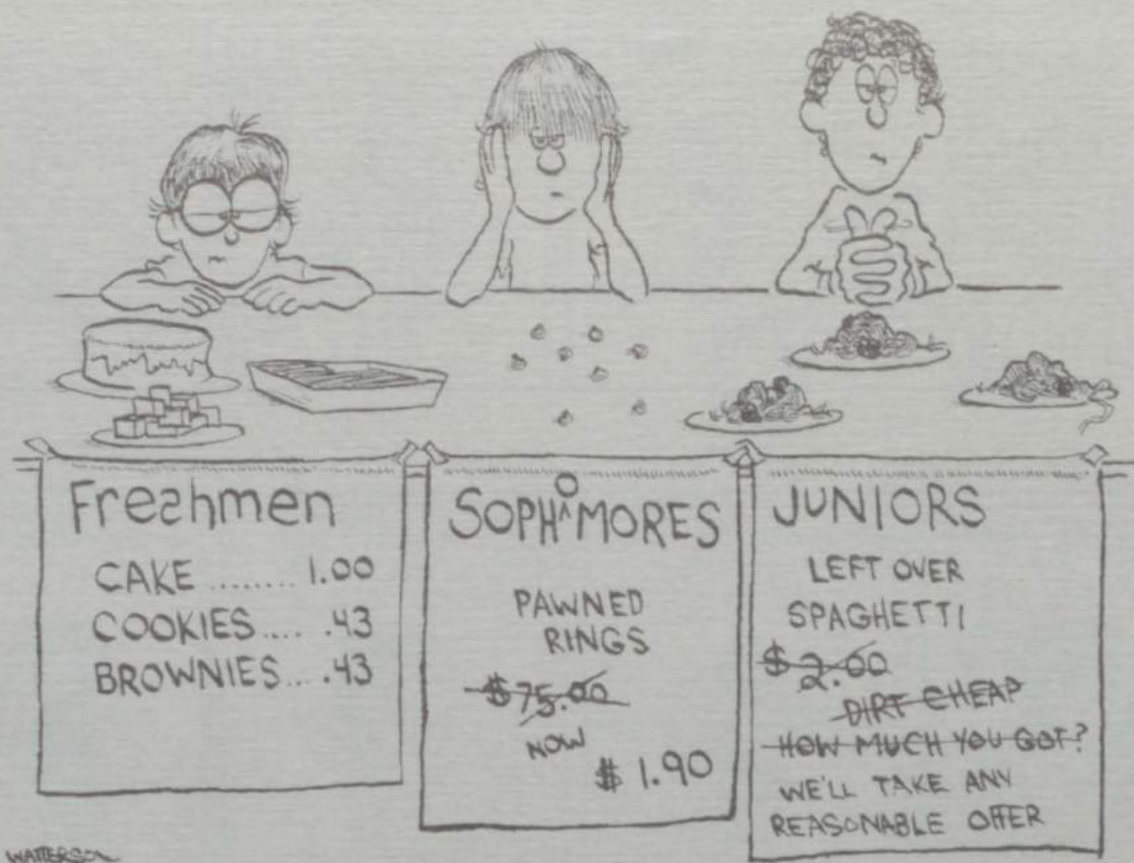

With the flood of bicentennial souvenirs, commercialism hit a two hundred year high. Television reduced our nation's history to a series of minutes

Local communities dug up old heroes and renovated their historical sites. On the national level the country re-evaluated its priorities and prepared to elect a president.

UNDERCLASSMEN

Frosh settle into high school routines

Starting high school was a considerable adjustment and a welcome change from Philomathian, but as freshmen we tried hard to become actively involved in high school life. Although withdrawn at first, we were reassured in our almost all-freshman classes, such as Algebra I, Biology, English 9, and first year foreign languages. The Commons, a new and inviting goal, found us striving to be accepted.

We started projects to raise money guided by our class officers, Beth Herion (Pres.), Mike Clawson (V.P.), Sally McSherry (Sec.), and Ann Moyse (Treas.). To end the first of our high school year, a class picnic was planned.

Work Work Work

The start of our sophomore year brought us to a status position—even if not a very high one. At last we had outgrown the “freshman” label. But this year was a very hardworking year for us as we tried to accomplish as much as we possibly could.

Our goals were all material. We first worked concessions at wrestling matches, had loads of bake sales, a color TV raffle, a spaghetti dinner, and a spring dance.

We chose our class colors to be scarlet and ivory and bought our class rings. Our officers, Kathy Wise (Pres.), Kris Rankin (V.P.), Lynn Byrnes (Sec.), and Disa Petruschke (Treas.) helped us make the year an extremely successful one.

Juniors juggle funds

As we became upperclassmen, we realized that more than half of our high school years were over. Driving to school, varsity sports, NHS, girls' football and club activities were all highlights of our year.

A lot of time and effort was spent raising money for the Prom. Not only did we hold football concessions and two spaghetti dinners, we also sponsored dances and bottle drives.

Junior year held big decisions for us about the world beyond. The terrible rumors about the PSAT and SAT tests became realities.

As car-caravan time approached and the senior-fever arrived, excitement was the junior watchword. Our hardworking officers were Denis Marino (Pres.), Nancy Murray (V.P.), Kathy Banks (Sec.) and Paul Sieker (Treas.).

"In My Life" means memories, especially to graduating seniors.

In first grade our world involved games of tag, Saturday morning cartoons, and the big adventure of school. In middle school we played keep-away, and went to our first dances. The three-day eighth grade trip to Washington highlighted our spring of 1972.

During our freshman and sophomore years we adjusted to high school life. Bake sales and a raffle opened the class treasury. We chose the class colors of dark green and light green and bought class rings. We attended dances, football games, and basketball games, and joined a myriad of extra curricular activities.

Our junior year we worked at football concessions, spaghetti dinners, and dances to raise the funds for prom. Our boy cheerleaders made a big hit at the junior-senior girls football game. Old enough to drive now, we caravanned into our senior year.

This was a time to celebrate, and we did. Football parties for players and friends, a Senior Christmas tree-trimming, and New Year's Eve were only a few. We decorated and danced at Homecoming, the "Magical Mystery Tour". The senior women triumphed over the junior girls in football, and again the cheerleaders were as much of a show as the game. Pumpkin rolling occupied many senior pranksters. Senior week in March was school-approved fun. With graduation, we will enter a new phase in our lives, but we will take with us memories of the fun we've had during our times in Chagrin.

It was a hectic year for Zenith—due to a basically inexperienced staff compounded by a late start. Mr. Olah and I were constantly discovering things that should have been taken care of—in September.

Zenith meetings struggled to compete with many other activities, such as play practice, girls football practice, and musical rehearsals. We suffered through broken croppers, lost pictures, and faces with no names. And then there was the week of the flu.

A special thanks to the photographers and cartoonist Bill Watterson. All of Mr. Olah's time and patience was greatly appreciated.

—Rachel Ward
