CHAGRIN FALLS HIGH SCHOOL

APRIL, 1968

Feb. 29 - Can CFHS girls resist attacking a handsome virile male? No!!! They can't even resist attacking Bruce Batchelor.

King in 1st Stages

In recent voting conducted by the ring committee, CFHS students had an opportunity to choose for themselves the symbols for their school ring. The results of the vote indicate a desire for a ring with a tiger on one side and a coat of arms. or shield, on the other side.

Since the committee wants to give the students a choice in the final selection, according to chairman John Eagin, it. decided to use the same coat of arms on both rings but to let students choose between two tigers, a full tiger or a tiger's head.

The drawings are presently being prepared by a company artist, and the final selection of the school ring will be made as soon as the committee receives them. After a design is chosen, the sophomore class will be able to place its orders for the ring.

Nineteen Merit Honors

The LANTERN wishes to extend its congratulations to the recently elected National Honor Society members: Kathy Ashby, Virginia Batchelor, Peggy Engel, Nancy Ericsson, Jane Loesch, Roxanne Lyle, Marilyn Martinko, Carol O'Connor, Martha Pugsley, Ann Roberts, Sheryl Ryan, Anne Smith, Cindy Thomas, Robert Bailey, Alex Bingham, Cliff Harmon, Steve Hale, Chris Irvin, Jeff Morrow.

"Standing Room Only" for both performances on March 15 and 16 indicated the degree of enthusiasm with which Chagrinites received the first high school musical, BYE BYE. BIRDIE.

Mixed audiences at the Philomethian Auditorium were almost equally balanced in number between adults and students of all ages. They applauded as Joann Chess, Bill Thobaben, Sara Knight, and Chuck Rice led a cast of 65 through their paces.

Miss Kathryn Warner, teacher of mathematics, slipped and fell in the faculty parking lot on March 25, breaking her wrist. The next day, wearing a cast and arm sling, she was teaching as usual.

The first basketball banquet in five years was held March 6, in the high school cafeteria. Coaches introduced and awarded letters to members of the three basketball teams and the cheering squad. Sam Osborne presented Coach Glen Wyville with the book THE WIDE WORLD OF SPORTS from the Varsity squad. Also honored was Jeff Thompson, who has been appointed next year's Varsity basketball captain.

Of the production, Mr. Harold Loesch, dramatic coordinator, said, "Both performances exceeded our expectations. And I'd like to credit not only the leads and cast who cooperated so well in rehearsal but the unsung heroes, the lighting and stage crews. It isn't easy to make 18 scene changes in 30 seconds each."

Musical direction for the show was by Mrs. Mollie Macknin and Mr. Robert Cooley served as choreographer.

Ohio University's School of Journalism at Athens, Ohio will be conducting a workshop on high school publications (newspapers and yearbooks) this summer, June 23-June 30. The fee of $47.50 per student includes board, room, recreation, medical fees, instruction, and laboratory fee. For more information, see Mrs. Bernadette Hurst.

PRISM

PRISM distribution will correlate with Chagrin's annual art show May 17, 18, 19, according to the PRISM board. Prices for the magazine are 75¢ during the one-week prepublication advance sales and $1.00 after general release.

Frances Jenkins, Mrs. faculty advisor for the PRISM, noted that many different writers from all four classes will be represented, but both authors and artists will have to wait until publication to see whether their work has been accepted.

WHAT IS N. H. S?

Dear Editor,

As I am not acquainted with Honor Society, I fail to see the purpose of this organization. This year an attempt was made to make Honor Society known through its tutoring program, but it seems that there was a lack of interest resulting in a failure. (?)

I feel that Honor Society should report projects and results of projects, so that many can change their opinion of this organization. I'M sure the members do more than just write 'Honor Society' on their college transcripts.

Debbie Karl

Dear Editor,

Ouite frequently there are students who acquire unfounded opinions of NHS because they fail to recognize the true meaning of this organization. It is not a high-brow clique of just 'brains.' Don't forget that the 'S' stands for service. A requirement for eligibility for this society was that the students had done a great deal for , the final curtain, BYE BYE, their school.

Whether they serve their school as, an NHS group or continue working hard in their other activities is beside the point. This year NHS did decide to have the tutoring project as a group; since we did not report the results to the student body, most of you have had no facts by which you could judge. Actually, the response to the tutoring service was overwhelming; many students had to be placed on waiting lists because not enough tutors were available.

It is true that membership in this honor society adds

Dear Editor,

Undertaking a Broadway 'musical production is by no means an easy chore for a high school group. To present a musical such as BYE BYE, BIRDIE requires many hours of rehearsal, good voices, adequate casting, dance routines, and tremendous helpings of stamina. To try such a complicated presentation as the first musical production in the high school with the commitment to do it well, adds fearfully to the demands on the cast, crew, and directors.

But Chagrin Falls Succeeded!

From the overture performed by the ten-piece pit band to BIRDIE was an exciting, colorful, enthusiastic, high-caliber piece of theater. Bill Thobaben and Joann Chess were top-notch all the way in their characterizations of 'Albert Peterson, starving song writer, and 'Rose Alvarez,' his marriage-minded secretary.

Sarah Knight as 'Kim Mac-Afee' presented a blend of purity and youthfulness in her portrayal of the 15-year-old girl destined to be kissed by 'Conrad Birdie,' idolized singing star of America, Sam Osborne, as 'Hugo Peabody,' her steady date, was equally as good.

Coach Counsels

(This interview with tennis coach, Mr. Alan McDonald, is the second in a series of talks with coaches from various sports activities.)

This spring, Coach Alan McDonald begins his fifth season as Chagrin Tiger's Tennis Coach. According to Mr. McDonald, "I am optimistic...we should win."

His hopes rest with returning Lettermen Jeff Miller, Cal Lockert, Dwight McGinnes, Chris Allen, and Jeff Morrow as well as with the extra seven players captained by senior members.

Mr. McDonald observed that the toughest competition this season will probably come from Orange and Beachwood. The CFHS tennis team will compete with the following schools: Beachwood, Orange, Garfield Hts., Solon, Cathedral Latin, and Benedictine. The first competition match will be held at home on April 15 with Brush High School.

Barry Furst, 1964 graduate of Chagrin Falls High School, recently received an offer from the Oakland Raiders football team of the American Football League to try out for the team.

Coach John Rauch of the Oakland team sent scouts to the Ohio Wesleyan football practices and games this past season, to discover outstandyoung athletes.

Joe Davidson of the Raiders said of Furst, "This guy has got to be the most dedicated person that I have ever seen."

Barry, a senior, had been planning to attend Case Western Reserve; but if he is successful at Oakland, he will stay with football.

'Mac' Speculates on '68 Season

By WAYNE LEACH

According to Coach Alan McDonald, hopes are high among CFHS tennis players for another league title. He feels certain that the team has fine experience and depth since five of last year's seven starters are back as well as eight other talented players who hope to gain varsity positions.

Cal Lockert, a senior with three tennis letters, will probably take over the first singles spot which Chip Reynolds held for four years. The second singles position will probably be played by two-year senior letterman, Dwight Mc-Innes. Vying for the third singles spot are Jeff Miller, three-year senior letterman, and Jeff Morrow, a junior with one letter. Chris Allan, two-year junior letterman, is likely to team with either Miller or Morrow for first doubles. The second doubles combination is still undecided.

The toughest league matches will be with Beachwood players, who defeated Chagrin for the title last year by a 3-2 score. Orange also offers stiff competition.

Tough non-league opponents are Brush, Cleveland Heights, Gilmour, and Western Reserve Academy. A special event, the first annual Chagrin Falls Invitational Tournament, will be held Saturday, May 4.

The History of Baseball

by BLAIR OLSON

How did it all start? We have to go back into ancient-history to find the origins of the game we know as baseball. As a matter of fact, the Egyptians of five thousand years ago had batting contests with a club and ball, and the Greeks and Romans also played ball. For many years these games were part of religious ceremonies.

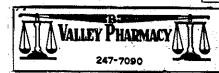

Some history books credit Abner Doubleday with having started the game in America by laying out the first playing field at Cooperstown, New York in 1895.

Other authorities, however, give credit to Alexander J. Cartwright for establishing the game. In 1845, he organized the first formal team, the New York Knickerbockers," and headed a committee to draw up the first set of playing rules.

The first game was played on June 19, 1846 on a site called the Elysian Fields in Hoboken, New Jersey. The game went four innings, and the Knickerbockers were beaten 23-1 by a team called the "New York Nine."

The first pro game on record saw Fort Wayne, Indiana defeat Cleveland, 2-1, and the first championship went to Philadelphia.

Sproing! I popped through. I brushed the clouds from my shoulders and sat up to survey my new environment. Where was I? A street sign floated past; it read, "St. Peter's Avenue and Upper Atmosphere Drive," Oh! That was a great help. I began to worry seriously about my location when the clouds began twining like man eating plants around my legs. I was extremely relieved when I heard a familiar voice cal. out, "Hi, there; how are you?" I looked to see a former teacher of mine hovering over me.

When I saw her beautiful wings fluttering gently in the breeze, my hopes soared. "Is this heaven?" I asked eagerly. But then Steve Bley glided quietly between two clouds of blazing pink and I was touched with disappointment. "Is this heaven?" I asked again doubtfully.

"Yes, indeed. Yes," said a low voice behind me. I turned and saw a figure draped in folds of white satin robes aviating awkwardly as he tried to wipe cosmic dust from his jeweled wings.

"Ric Reitz! What are you doing here?" I asked Lowering his eyes, he pouted, hovering to the left, and glided mopingly back into the clouds.

My former teacher took this opportunity to quiz me, "What books have you been reading

Then Wendy Kujat darted up in her brand new pair of 1968 sports wings. She presented me with myown heavenly habit and a can of cloud spray. She explained that the clouds were quite aggressive at this time of year and I would have to fend them off with the spray and it was hard on the hair!

Just then, as Carry MacDermott flew limply by clutching her books tightly, I knew I must be wrong. I could not see who was chasing her, but I had a strong suspicion.

Located down in a distant dark corner of Chagrin Falls High School is a place of imagination and creativity more commonly known as 'the art room.'

The leader of all this creative activity is Mr. George Roby, who teaches art survey, painting, sculpture, and supervises the advanced class.

First-year classes (art survey) are presently examining ordinary objects to present a different view of the same view of the same object. The problem is approached by a student's viewing an object from different angles and positions to get a different focal point than the usual. Subjects vary from flowers to nuts and bolts.

Painting classes now are doing self-portraits for which props such as costumes may be used.

Sculpture classes of sophomores and juniors are doing stone and wood carvings of human figures at present.

The advanced class of selected seniors include Diana Ramsey, Eileen Burger, Pat Fuller, Celeste Littleton, Bob Jackson, Kristie Williams, Sue Gregg, Betsey Burrell, Pete Cary, and Sue Jenuleson. The group's current study is 'the condition of man.' "They're mainly on their own with little guidance from me," said Mr. Roby.

You're whetting my appetite. Tell me more.

We just described the administrative dietitian's job, If you become a therapeutic dietitian, you plan menus for patients with special food needs and sometimes teach them new eating habits.

What's the recipe for becoming a hospital dietitian?

Start with four years of college, flavored heavily with courses in foods and nutrition. Add a swinging social life. Top off with a oneyear internship at a hospital. (This is a no-tuition program. In fact, the hospital pays you an allowance.)

You may scoff at this warning, but mark my words, if you set foot on that stage, the curse will be upon you, and you will regret your deed for the rest of your life (however long it may be)!

The history of this evil spell is complex. It is rumored - that it was put upon the auditorium by an unidentified cuscountless potato chip cans and empty coke bottles left behind by the BLITHE SPIRIT crew.

The four seniors to be on the panel are Linda Larson, Nancy Vechiarelli, Jeff Miller, and Byron Burns. These students will discuss "War's Inhumanity," on which they are given questions in advance so that they can prepare material.

The show will be taped on April 9, but the date it will be viewed is not yet determined.

Coach Counsels

(This interview with tennis coach, Mr. Alan McDonald, is the second in a series of talks with coaches from various sports activities.)

This spring, Coach Alan McDonald begins his fifth season as Chagrin Tiger's Tennis Coach. According to Mr. McDonald, "I am optimistic...we should win."

His hopes rest with returning Lettermen Jeff Miller, Cal Lockert, Dwight McGinnes, Chris Allen, and Jeff Morrow as well as with the extra seven players captained by senior members.

Mr. McDonald observed that the toughest competition this season will probably come from Orange and Beachwood. The CFHS tennis team will compete with the following schools: Beachwood, Orange, Garfield Hts., Solon, Cathedral Latin, and Benedictine. The first competition match will be held at home on April 15 with Brush High School.

Barry Furst, 1964 graduate of Chagrin Falls High School, recently received an offer from the Oakland Raiders football team of the American Football League to try out for the team.

Coach John Rauch of the Oakland team sent scouts to the Ohio Wesleyan football practices and games this past season, to discover outstandyoung athletes.

Joe Davidson of the Raiders said of Furst, "This guy has got to be the most dedicated person that I have ever seen."

Barry, a senior, had been planning to attend Case Western Reserve; but if he is successful at Oakland, he will stay with football.

'Mac' Speculates on '68 Season

By WAYNE LEACH

According to Coach Alan McDonald, hopes are high among CFHS tennis players for another league title. He feels certain that the team has fine experience and depth since five of last year's seven starters are back as well as eight other talented players who hope to gain varsity positions.

Cal Lockert, a senior with three tennis letters, will probably take over the first singles spot which Chip Reynolds held for four years. The second singles position will probably be played by two-year senior letterman, Dwight Mc-Innes. Vying for the third singles spot are Jeff Miller, three-year senior letterman, and Jeff Morrow, a junior with one letter. Chris Allan, two-year junior letterman, is likely to team with either Miller or Morrow for first doubles. The second doubles combination is still undecided.

The toughest league matches will be with Beachwood players, who defeated Chagrin for the title last year by a 3-2 score. Orange also offers stiff competition.

Tough non-league opponents are Brush, Cleveland Heights, Gilmour, and Western Reserve Academy. A special event, the first annual Chagrin Falls Invitational Tournament, will be held Saturday, May 4.

The History of Baseball

by BLAIR OLSON

How did it all start? We have to go back into ancient-history to find the origins of the game we know as baseball. As a matter of fact, the Egyptians of five thousand years ago had batting contests with a club and ball, and the Greeks and Romans also played ball. For many years these games were part of religious ceremonies.

Some history books credit Abner Doubleday with having started the game in America by laying out the first playing field at Cooperstown, New York in 1895.

Other authorities, however, give credit to Alexander J. Cartwright for establishing the game. In 1845, he organized the first formal team, the New York Knickerbockers," and headed a committee to draw up the first set of playing rules.

The first game was played on June 19, 1846 on a site called the Elysian Fields in Hoboken, New Jersey. The game went four innings, and the Knickerbockers were beaten 23-1 by a team called the "New York Nine."

The first pro game on record saw Fort Wayne, Indiana defeat Cleveland, 2-1, and the first championship went to Philadelphia.
