CHAGRIN FALLS HIGH SCHOOL

CHAGRIN FALLS, OHIO

JANUARY, 1969

The Lantern wishes to honor the band for their outstanding performances and continued effort in promoting school spirit

NHS Selects Outstanding Student

National Honor Society selects a senior of the month from nominations by other students. Those honored are selected anonymously for their activities outside of school. Last month's winner was Kathy Ashwill, who was chosen for her hospital work.

Besides the honor, she also received a free dinner at Fife and Drum.

This month's winner is Al Smith, for his landscaping business.

Anyone wishing to nominate a senior should pick up a form in the civics room. Students from any class may nominate a senior, and each student can name as many people as he wishes.

Student Council: Tradition Plus Innovation

"Student Council this year is trying to keep a balance of the worthwhile traditional projects with several new ones," says president Peggy Engel when naming one of the main goals of the club.

Added this year was "Spirit Week," to increase enthusiasm for winter sports. A different activity was designated for each day of the school week: Monday there was a "pep pill" guess, with licorice and gum balls representing the number of pills it takes to give Chagrin teams enough pep to stay on top. Spirit ribbons were sold on Tuesday by cheerleaders and council members. The "Mr. Irrisistible" contest for all three squads of wrestlers took place on Wednesday. Then on Thursday was held a "Mr. Pretty Legs" contest for the three basketball teams. Friday was Orange-and-Black day, with a pep rally at the end of the day. Cheerleaders from both wrestling and basketball put up team signs during the week.

"Student Council's Christmas project was a great success," said Milt Pressler, chairman of the committee that collected contributions from the student body for needy families in Chagrin Falls Park. "Chagrin students were generous," he commented.

Council also sponsored the Christmas assembly which included music by the band directed by Mr. William Foley and the choir and freshman ensemble whose director is Mrs. Molly Macknin. Students gave a skit written by Bruce Batchelor and Craig Rueckert.

In December, ten students from Chagrin's student council spent a day at Beachwood High School; then in January, Beachwood returned the visit for a day at Chagrin. Council vice-president Scott Lax remarked that many ideas were gained from these visitations.

Currently being planned is Monte Carlo night featuring booths, gambling, and a dance.

Individual Council honors go to Kathy Stevens, who will represent Chagrin at the National Association of Student Councils workshop, June 21-30, in Maryland.

"If you've got a gripe, a suggestion, or just want to know what council's up to, then come to the meetings," says council president Peg Engel. "They're held Mondays at 7:30 in room 307."

Classes Move to Third Floor

Construction this year at the high school has brought about much change, but holds even more for the future. A new cafeteria is being installed in the old L.A. building, to which the builders plan to move the kitchen equipment in the next few weeks. According to Mr. Thomas Moe, this will mean that students and faculty will have to resort to "brown bagging it" for the remainder of the year.

Mr. Moe adds, "The lunch periods will remain closed, with milk brought in; that is, no students will be allowed to leave the grounds for lunch."

Of the new third-floor hall, the assistant principal comments, "It's nice to have free rooms." A number of students have asked about room 312, which is equipped with a stage. The room is not designed as a theater, as the lights suggest, but for large group sessions. The new "little theater" for the high school will occupy what is presently room 101.

The new wing off the second floor includes the athletic director's offices, coaches' offices, varsity locker rooms, two new classrooms, guidance offices, and administration offices. This area is slated for completion after spring vacation.

Still to be completed are the library, the new cafeteria, the art rooms, large group areas, the seminar room, the teachers' conference room, and the new physics laboratory, with no completion date given.

Girls Buy Boys

"Forty cents."
"Sixty."
"Seventy-five."

If you passed the cafeteria after school, Friday, January tenth, you heard girls bidding on the guy of their choice at the boy auction. Bids started at forty cents, with raises of at least five cents required.

With Mr. William Foley in charge, early bidding was carried on by upperclassmen, but freshmen and sophomores quickly followed their lead.

The highest bid was ten dollars for Mark Wilson, made by freshman Heather Copper. Sponsored by juniors, the auction netted fifty dollars for their class.

According to Kinney de Hamel, because of the success of this auction, another one may be held in the near future.

CFHS Plays Again.

BY ED HOREJS

Philomethian auditorium was once again awakened early this month as students tried out for parts in the musical comedy, LPL ABNER. As was the case last year, the tryouts turned out to be most interesting and very humorous.

Under the guidance of music director, Mrs. Molly Macknin, the songs by the students ranged from folk to Bruce Batchelor's rendition of "Chewy, Chewy!" Mr. Harold Loesch, acting director, was then treated to an amalgamation of lines from the script, under the guise of such characters as Eagle Eye Fleagle and Appassionata Von Climax.

Probably the most interesting part of the auditions was seeing the tryouts for Stupify'n Jones, the sexy bombshell of the show, which consisted of girls walking (?) across the stage to music.

All in all, it was a close contest. Both directors admitted they had a hard time making up the cast. "I never realized that there was so much talent in this school," said Mrs. Macknin. "I'm sure we are going to have a great show!"

Lead roles were given to Dean Tierney, Karen Flom, Ed Horejs, Kathy Stevens, Scott Martin, and Sue Sipos. Performances are March 21 and 22.

Dear Editor,

The new construction in C.F.H.S. has aroused students' pride in their school. These additions to the high school are almost finished and will provide many new and wonderful advantages.

On January 13 juniors and seniors moved into lockers of their own. And many students in the high school moved to bright new classrooms. Students are anxiously awaiting a new cafeteria, but they are a bit distressed about carrying their lunches until the new cafeteria is completed. Now students don't have to struggle through the cold, walking to the gym, since there is an added entrance right by the gym.

All of this, the old and the new, is what makes students say with pride, "I go to CHAGRIN FALLS HIGH SCHOOL."

C.F.H.S. Student Views Czech Revolt Firsthand

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lavicka turned on the six o'clock news August 20, 1968, only to hear what they found was almost impossible to believe: "SOVIET TROOPS AND PLANES HAVE JUST INVADED CZECHOSLOVAKIA." Their reaction was alarm since their son, John, 13, a freshman at C.F.H.S. and vice president of his freshman class, was visiting relatives in Prague at the time.

It had all started the previous June when John, expecting a thrilling summer, accompanied his parents, two sisters and a brother, all of whom were looking forward to their vacation.

John recalls, "After one short month when my older brother and sister, Kathy and Lad, were getting ready to tour the rest of Europe and my parents with my baby sister were packing to go back home, my Dad suggested that I extend my visa and spend the rest of the summer in Czechoslovakia. I was all for the idea, so we changed my flight to the 30th of August. I had a really great time while I was there; the people were just great. They took me out to eat every night, showed me around the city, took me fishing, swimming and mountain climbing and just about anywhere else I wanted to go."

Everything was going just as planned until early in August when John sent home a postcard saying, "RUSSIANS coming to talk; if they don't behave, I'll go to Paris." Immediately John's parents decided that it would be a good idea for him to join Kathy and Lad in Paris at the end of his trip, so once again, John's flight was changed to another day, the 24th of August.

"I was so anxious to see Paris that I couldn't wait that long," John says, "so I changed my flight to the 20th without my parents' permission."

"At 5:30, on the 20th of August as I lifted off from Prague, I was really sad, but now I'm glad that I decided to leave when I did. The next morning, the members of the family that I was staying with woke to tell me the tragic news. Although I couldn't believe it, I went to Paris and sent home a wire telling my parents that I was safe there," John explains.

Later on that day, John read that an AIR FRANCE plane that had left at 5:30 p.m. was the last plane to leave Prague before the invasion, because Russian paratroopers had landed and had taken over the airport at 6:00 p.m. "I'm lucky I was on that plane," is John's comment.

John had expected to meet Kathy and Lad at the airport, but somehow the news of his immediate arrival hadn't reached them, so they didn't know of his whereabouts. Instead they were enjoying their vacation skiing in the French Alps.

A week later Kathy and Lad arrived in Paris. Lad comments, "We checked the American Express Office to see whether we had received any mail. There we found a postcard from John telling us that he was in Paris. You can imagine our relief."

All three agreed that they had spent a happy week in Paris, but all were looking forward to getting back home and using some of the modern conveniences that Europe lacks.

"Were we ever surprised to find out that our house had practically burned down to the ground while we were away and that we'd have to rough it for another two months. But now the house is nearing completion, and as I look back on the last five months from the time I boarded the plane for Europe until now, I can say I had a pretty thrilling summer," John concludes.

Chagrin Welcomes Kathy Home

KATHY

Kathy Ashby, Chagrin Falls senior, has spent the last year in Lower Hutt, New Zealand, as a member of the American Field Service organization. She lived with the James S. Saggart family, and their three children, Ann, age 16, Caroline, 14, and Jimmy, 12.

Kathy attended classes at Saint Owens, a private girls' school in the valley. The choice of a private or public school for an AFS'er lies with the family, not the location. It is not unusual, though, for an AFS'er to attend a private school, for the ratio of private to public schools in New Zealand is much greater than in the United States. In Lower Hutt alone there are five or six private schools, and in nearby Willinton there are fifteen to twenty.

Kathy wore a uniform to school, as do all New Zealand students, whether they attend public or private schools. Their choice of courses is more rigid than in Chagrin; they must take either science courses or liberal arts courses, with little or no blending between the two. Kathy took the liberal arts program and studied French, English, music theory, biology, and modern European history.

Class systems in New Zealand schools differ from ours. Kathy was in the lower sixth form, comparable to our senior year. The fifth form, like our Junior class, takes an exam; and if a student passes, he receives a school certificate similar to a high school diploma.

The upper sixth form is like a thirteenth year of high school. One can enter the university at the end of the lower or upper sixth form, if he passes yet another exam. Nine tenths of a student's school fees are paid for by the university, and one can obtain scholarships to complete the cost through further exams.

Kathy speaks of her experiences in New Zealand, "You come to love your school, your family, and community. Even more I loved my fellow AFS'ers; they were just like my brothers and sisters."

Kim Elaborates on German School

Kim

My school is known in Germany as a very progressive one. The two upper grades, 12th and 13th, (before graduating you must complete thirteen years of school in Germany) are put together in one grade which is called "formierte prima." This grade takes two years to complete.

We are allowed to select our teachers. I guess I have to explain how that works. For one thing, we have to take at least ten subjects, but they are not taught every day. There are usually four teachers for every subject — each teacher having a different aspect of the same subject, so you consider the teacher as well as the subject.

If you dislike the teacher, you select another course — your second choice — with a teacher you like. Your next question, I am sure, will be what happens when everyone selects the same teacher? This happened for the first time last semester with our German courses, and we kept on voting in order to get a balance. But vacation came, and we had to wait until after summer vacation for our schedules. By that time I was already here in Chagrin, so I never found out how that problem was solved.

By the way, in my school we don't have any dress codes, which means boys can come in shorts and barefoot and girls can wear slacks. Smoking, too, is allowed — but since it has been, many people have quit. It's not as "adventurous" as it was before.

The Student Council is formed by all the students of the upper two grades, as the lower grades have their own. This works out pretty well, because everybody is required to go to these meetings — it's an assigned period — and so we have a maximum of ideas. Secondly, nobody can say, "I didn't know that..."

In Germany we get out of school around 12:30 p.m. I know that's one of your dreams, but how would you like to go to school on Saturdays?

Students Speak On Curfews

BY RANDY PARRISH

WHAT TIME DO YOU THINK HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS SHOULD BE ALLOWED OUT ON WEEKENDS?

Terri Zimmerlin—"From 6:30 Friday till 10:00 Sunday night."

Larry Clute—"Never come home."

Bob Hollmeyer—"No more than 36 hours."

Pete Spearing—"From around, I'd say, 7:30 till 11:15 or maybe 11:30 if you have to take your date home."

Tim Denis—"Four o'clock sounds good."

Jane Manlove—"It depends on where you're going. I think you should be allowed to stay out long enough to go where you want to, do something afterwards (like go to Manners), and come home without hurrying. I think students should be allowed to use their own judgement, within reason."

Jeff Wilcox—"If it's a routine date like a movie or dance, I'd say about 1:30-2:00. But if it's something special, students should be able to use their own judgment and set their own time."

Gail Wooten—"They should be able to use their own discretion."

Vic Morelli—"Until you come home again."

Dennis Street—"When you get there."

Melinda Edwards—"The students should use his or her own judgement. Parents should not stress a time limit because it could cause an accident if the kids have to hurry home to make a curfew."

Dave McCourt—"At least four hours later than their parents get in because they are younger and smarter and have more to do."

Gary Bolton—"All weekend, from 3:15 on Friday to 7:00 Monday morning."

Coach Councils

Coach James Fanger of the freshmen basketball team has great faith in his boys and reports that this year they have been moving along at a good pace.

This is Mr. Fanger's fourth year of coaching the team, and he is able to predict that although Orange has been hard to crush, our freshmen have a good chance of winning the league championship.

Named the team's best players to date are Bill Beebe and Eric Smidanski; but Coach Fanger feels that all his boys are contributing an important part in creating an enthusiastic and successful team.

Tigers Lead by Two After Orange-Solon Wins

Our Chagrin Falls Tiger varsity basketball team beat Chardon 63 to 45, then bumped off the Aurora Greenmen 82 to 54, and West Geauga 68 to 64. The Tigers are now in first place as the Solon Comets lost to Twinsburg 69 to 57. Tim Stacey, Solon's 6'2" senior forward is the main reason for Solon's high-flying ability.

What If Hockey?

What if the Chagrin Valley Rec. council decided on building an indoor skating rink? Do you realize the advantages: Just think, Chagrin could start their own Hockey team. Believe it or not, despite the Cleveland Baron's low turnout of fans, Hockey is still a very popular sport.

Tiger "mighty men" so far have been "big" Jack Carmichael, Steve Shutts, Jeff Thompson, Paul Jones and Pete Barry. Coach Glenn Wyville's bench has been great so far, with Jerry Price, Bill Wahl, Doug Rinkoski, Bob Prophater and Rich Reid.
