Missy Engel Crowned Queen

Homecoming activities captured the attention of Tiger fans during pre-game time, Oct. 28, before the Chagrin-West Geauga contest.

After the cars, carrying the attendants and queen candidates, made the traditional drive around the track, stopping at the grandstand, the girls and their escorts were announced.

First, came Laura Nelson, representing the freshman class. Laura was escorted by Walt Ettinger. The sophomore attendant was Cindy Thomas, accompanied by Paul Jones. Next, came Debbie Karl and her escort, Brian Hartz.

Senior candidates were introduced alphabetically. Ruth Chisholm was escorted by John Blazer. Diane Connor came next with senior Jeff Rigby. Following, was Missy Engel, escorted by Dan McDermott.

Vietnam Calls Assistant

Now training at Ohio University before flying to Vietnam is Dr. Donald M. Knox, former assistant superintendent for Chagrin.

Making his headquarters in Saigon and Hue, he will work on revising and developing secondary education under Ohio University's program.

Dr. Knox and other O.U. educational specialists will be concerned with ten comprehensive schools that emphasize skilled trades.

He came to Chagrin Falls in 1962 to be Lewis Sands' principal, after earning both a master's and doctorate degree from Western Reserve and serving as an elementary principal in Richmond Heights.

Before assuming his new duties on December 1, Dr. Knox will stop in the Far East to inspect several schools.

NEWS BRIEFS

CONGRATULATIONS to Mr. Olrich, proud father of a baby girl. Named Kerry Beth, she weighed 6 pounds, 15 ounces at birth.

In the last issue's prize drawing, no. 139 was chosen. After checking the number appearing on the LANTERN'S back page, senior Ken Coryell discovered his was the one announced. His prize? A stack of coupons ... good for plenty of ice cream cones at Baskin-Robbins!

The second and fourth Thursdays of each month are the meeting days for Chagrin Y-Teens. A Partridge in a Pear Tree, I'm Dreaming of a White Christmas, and Silver Bells are the themes to be voted on for the annual formal, scheduled for Dec. 23. All students, especially boys, are encouraged to help decorate Thursday night the 22. There will be free food and music.

During half-time of the Chagrin-Cuyahoga Heights game, senior members of the band were honored. Fourteen seniors, including majorettes and flag girls were cited. Head majorette, Nancy Hoffman, received a corsage from the twirling squad in appreciation of her efforts.

Congratulations to Lynn Hollis and Pam Parker who have been chosen as Chagrin's A.F.S. semi-finalists to New York. If homes are found both girls have a chance to spend a year abroad. Junior Bob Doyle and Senior Dan Ehrenbeit were hurt in the last game of the season against Cuyahoga Heights. Both boys were taken to Suburban Hospital, where they were treated and released.

During the week of November 7 Chagrin's Student Council sponsored a Toy Drive which was climaxed by a Saturday night Sock Hop and Sunday afternoon Scavenger Hunt.

CHAGRIN PROVES UNIQUE

We're special at Chagrin. We're in the 10% bracket for response to the United Appeal ... the lowest 10%. Of approximately one-hundred schools in the Cleveland area, CFHS ranks as one of the lower ten.

In order to find out whether neighboring schools had the same problem, the LANTERN staff conducted a survey in seven schools. Kenston, Shaker Heights, and Brush collected over 100% of their goal. At West G., contributions were improved 100%, doubling those of last year. Among the schools questioned, Mayfield and Beachwood ranked lowest with 90% and 75%. Oh, in case you haven't heard, we realized only 44% of our goal.

What's wrong at Chagrin? It's certainly not that Chagrin kids have less money than other area teen-agers. Well, maybe we could pass it off by saying we don't give because we know little about United Appeal. But that's not true either. There were signs, announcements, and further explanations of where our money would go. Could the answer be a one-word explanation ... SELFISHNESS?

Which is more important, an ice-cream sandwich, a pack of cigarettes, or teaching a crippled child how to walk, giving a senile person care and understanding?

Every year we rank low, and every year we hear lectures on our apathetic attitudes. Aren't Chagrin students tired of thinking only of themselves? It's too late to do anything about this year's drive ... but can't we improve next year?

WHAT IF - - -

- there wasn't a fence by the dump to paint?
- everybody in Chagrin was friendly?
- the cafeteria ladies ran out of butter?
- kid's parents didn't go away on vacation?
- Solon ran out of paint?
- the biology department ran out of land?
- there wasn't a Kent State?
- Baskins-Robbins didn't exist?
- Mr. Luft ran out of coffee?
- we had a coke machine at CFHS?

WHO'S WHO ???

Did anyone guess last month's mystery student? Here they are: Ann Vasey and John Fuhry. Now, start guessing again for this month's Who's Who....

NHS Tradition Valued

Dear Editor:

It has come to the attention of many members of the student body that this year there was no induction assembly for National Honor Society. We really liked the surprise involved in an assembly. Also, since NHS is a national organization, doesn't it deserve more than a PA announcement? We hope the administration will let us go back to our traditional induction assembly.

SOCIETY SUPPORTERS

Dear Supporters:

Upon checking into this the LANTERN found that the school will have one NHS assembly per year. It will be in February, and all members, new juniors, and seniors from the fall, will be inducted.

Colleges Come To Chagrin

"About 40 to 50 colleges and universities will send representatives to Chagrin this year. These College Conferences should be of special interest to juniors who must make college choices," was Mr. Chiavett's statement concerning college bound students.

Juniors and seniors attending a conference are given an opportunity to question an admissions representative and discover programs of interest, little known facts about the college, and qualifications desired, including chances of personal acceptance.

Students may attend any number of College Conferences as long as they display genuine interest. A list of colleges and conference times is posted on a bulletin board across from the stairs on the second floor. Applications are in a box to the left of the office.

Mr. Chiavett's final word is, "Miss Knight and I invite all students, but especially juniors and seniors, to come in and talk over their post high school goals, whether they are directly related to college or other plans."

BAND SUPPORT SMALL ???

Every year CFHS students are told that school spirit is poor because we do not support the band enthusiastically. We protest! Some band members seem to feel unappreciated, but according to the majority of students polled by the LANTERN, this feeling is completely unfounded.

Several of the opinions expressed were: Letta Manfredi - "It is really good; I hear them practice every day in English." Candi Curtis - "I think they've improved; they play better songs. But, oh those uniforms ..." Anita Allen - "I think it's come a long way. It seems to improve every year." Suzanna Indart - "I like it!"

Also, Carolyn Luce, Ed Willard, Eileen Burger, Warren Wise, Nancy Vecchiarelli, Tom Dapo, Jim Jackson, and Sally Cressman said they thought the band was 'pretty good.'

Even if our band is far from perfect, everyone polled felt it's getting there. And so is the enthusiasm.

Jubilee comes from the ancient Hebrew word 'yobel' meaning a ram's horn. This was blown every 50 years to commemorate the escape of the Jews from Egypt. At this time people rested, fields lay fallow, slaves were freed. So jubilee came to mean a time of great joy.

Round and Round It Goes

In order to promote more class and school spirit, Chagrin High now owns a 'spirit jacket.' A once upon a time CFHS band jacket, it is made of orange wool trimmed in black.

At each pep rally, a cheering contest among the classes determines the class with the most spirit. The jacket is presented to the winning class's president, who in turn wears it during the next pep rally, while various class members wear it on Fridays.

The seniors won the spirit jacket at the first assembly, while the freshmen and sophomores won the right to wear it the following weeks. Presentation of the spirit jacket will continue through basketball season.

Teens Talk Books

For the past year and a half interested teen-agers from Chagrin Falls and surrounding school districts have been meeting at the Chagrin Falls Public Library for Teen Talk Books. Here, under the direction of Mrs. Florence Cady, the Young Adult Librarian of the Chagrin Falls branch, students are given the opportunity to discuss books which they all read in advance, or films which they view at the library. The dress and discussion is informal; and the fact that Mrs. Cady, acting as moderator, often may have to tone down an argument to keep a general war from beginning, shows the eagerness and enthusiasm of the participants.

One of the reasons these people show up week after week may be the subjects discussed. Films and books planned for this year are: Play reading, Dec. 5; the film, "The Jazzy Age," Dec. 19; "The Hobbit," Jan 9; the film, "Automation: The Next Revolution," Jan. 23; book reading to be announced, Feb. 6; the film, "Red, White and Blue," Feb. 20; "My Shadow Ran Fast," Mar. 6; the film, "Odyssey - The Central Theme," Mar. 20; "Walden," April 3; the film, "The Three Musketeers," April 17; "King from Ashtabula," May 8; and the film, "Israel," on May 22.

Breakfasts of CHAMPIONS

Has anyone noticed how listless and pale some students at C.F.H.S. look early in the morning? A survey was taken to see whether the cause is lack of a good, nutritious breakfast. It was discovered that many students come to school with no breakfast at all.

Some students said they did have something to eat in the morning, but 'I wouldn't actually call it a well-balanced breakfast.' Senior Linda Burkhardt had coffee, orange juice and a vitamin pill; while junior Janet McGuire had only a cup of coffee. Ron Baker said he had two pieces of toast, coffee, and three cigarettes; and Jerry Littleton ate toast and milk.

Valerie Warren's breakfast made her laugh, "Scrambled eggs with ketchup, coffee and a cigarette;" and Bob Birr said, "Bacon and eggs, burned toast, and milk."

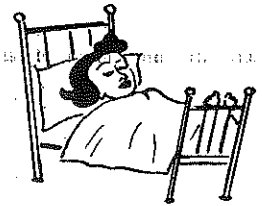

Has anyone ever tried green peas and Neopolitan ice cream for breakfast? Ask Missy Engel how it tastes; she knows! Di Koos had pop and cookies one morning, and Connie Klees had 1/2 of an apple turnover. A combination of popcorn, ice tea and a cigarette was Laura Lewis' breakfast.

Bob Lowe said he was in a hurry Monday morning, so he ate a doughnut, had an instant

All six couples stood on the field awaiting the decision which would name the winner. Tiger co-captains Roddy Scott and Warren Wise did the honors and crowned Missy Engel the 1966 Homecoming Queen. Queen Missy and her court reigned throughout the game, watching from the sidelines.

The annual Homecoming Dance was held Saturday, from 9-12, in the gym. Titled, "The Illusion", the dance was decorated with op art forms, predominantly black and white. Music was provided by the Sabres, who played a variety of slow and fast dances.

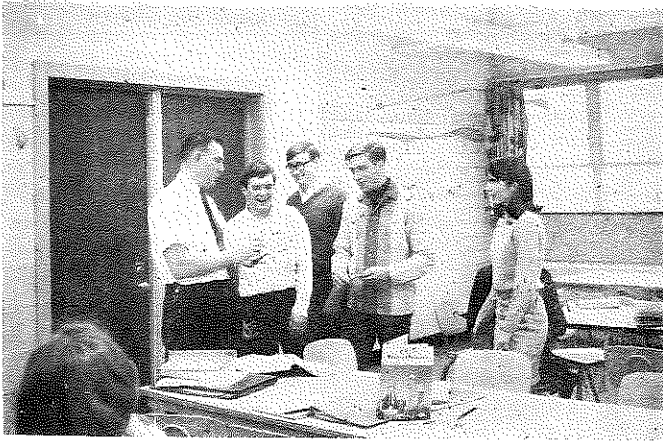

breakfast, then he 'had to take an Alkaseltzer!'

Gary Hoffman, Joe Vacha, George Cale, Doug Howard, Paul Jones and a few others ate a well-balanced breakfast. Anita Allen added, "I had a cup of milk!" Oh well, to each his own.

WHAT DOES NROTC MEAN

High school seniors and graduates will have the opportunity for a government-paid college education on December 10, when the 21st annual nationwide competitive exams for entry into the Regular Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps (NROTC) will be held.

The Navy pays all tuition, fees, books and uniform expenses for successful candidates and gives the student $50 per month subsistence allowance while he is attending one of the 52 civilian colleges participating in the NROTC program.

MR. HENSEL FACES PASS SHORTAGES

In studyhall I learn more than in class. Studyhall teaches one the tricks which are necessary to make one's high school years more enjoyable. The typical day in studyhall begins not in the studyhall itself, but outside in the hall. Here passes are exchanged, re-written, and the frantic addition of names begins.

When the bell rings, the action in studyhall intensifies. The teacher who has just arrived is literally stampeded. Five people have forgotten to bring any books to study, ten students want to study QUIETLY out in the hall together.

... There are six doctors' appointments, two dentists' appointments, three students must all close to the door in case of a fire drill, someone has to go to the office to get his lock fixed, and because he forgot his combination, and something else in the library.

Our boy has opened all the windows and three girls want to get coats; someone is catching flies 'for biology' and putting them in his Spanish book. No one is sitting at the right table so it is impossible to take attendance.

Seventy-prime appointments is particularly annoying, for this is the time to come not concentrate when to go after school.

Study-hall is a time when one can think about such enjoyable and unrelated things as dinner, summer, Rides nights, sleeping in, and Christmas vacation. All in all, studyhall is a completely unique experience.

Powder Puff Proves Rough

Football is one of my favorite spectator sports - providing I'm the spectator. However, when the girl's gym classes took to the field, my opinion of the game sank to an all-time low.

For one thing, there were the ladders.

"O.K. Here we are, so what'll we do?"

"You mean should we sue or pass?"

"No. What are we here for?"

"Just whisper a while and then yell, 'Let's go!'"

There are absolutely no courses given, on what to do in football huddles.

Then we have a slight problem with signals.

"Now, snap the ball when I yell '23'. 14, 19, 23. Hey you, I said 23!"

"Already? I just got here!"

And so it goes, happily through the mud, blithely past the people who get 'louch' and 'tackle' confused.

If nothing else, after three weeks of gym, girls no longer fail to understand football ... but huddles are still a mystery.

Millions Executed

Oh, the horror of it! In a short time I am to die. There is nothing that can be done. They thought mass execution would end with the death of Hitler, but it has continued without interruption.

My parents were captured and placed in this camp which is surrounded by barbed wire. Here is where I was born. I was still young when they executed my mother and father. I have grown up to be big and strong since that fateful day, despite these confining conditions.

There must be thousands of us here. It is supposed to be one of the largest places like this in the country. They are all having executions now. It won't be long; oh I wish there was something I could do!

Here they come. The guards are pushing us in the truck. I kick, scratch, and even bite, but it is to no avail. The trip to the death house is several miles, but it seems like only a split second until we arrive. They now open the cells and lead us to our death.

This is my last chance. If I don't make it now, I know it will all be over. Desperately I battle, but it is futile. Why is this? Why? Why?

Why? Because I am a turkey and it's Thanksgiving; that's why.

What the Heck - - -

Judy Speaks Out

What is it like being a cheerleader? Judy Spresser replied, "When I see the stands full, I worry that they aren't going to yell. And when the players run through the tiger hoop, I'm afraid they won't make it. The view is terrible! All we see is jerseys when the boys pop up."

"Sometimes I wonder what the heck I'm doing out there doing those weird contortions," she continued. "I feel almost like a player because we are so close to the field and the rest of the team. Then, again, I feel almost unnecessary when the fans start their own chants, but we like this."

Judy began cheerleading in the seventh grade at Birmingham, Michigan. She came to Chagrin late in her junior year and this year joined the cheering squad. By now one might guess that cheering is old hat to her. However, this is hardly the case.

Judy expressed her views, "On the days of football games, excitement gradually builds up; but it really gets exciting when the Star Spangled Banner is played."

The world of football, seen through the eyes of Judy Spresser, is rather unique.

"I used to think an off-side penalty was when a cloud of lime went up. But now I do understand some penalties and the difference between offense and defense. Even though I don't catch a lot, I figure that Sue Sickling, head cheerleader, has to know it. As a side observation, I like to watch the little boys in the end zone copy the players, and the little girls copy the cheerleaders."

"When the battle is over and we have won," the cheerleader concluded, "I always want to eat or dance; but if we lose, I take a hot bath and go to bed."

"As we advance in life, we acquire a keener sense of the value of time. Nothing else, indeed, seems of any consequence; and we become misers in this respect."

Through The Shattered Looking Glass - - - by Julie Osborne

Invaders Raid Chagrin

Who wears a purple shirt, orange shorts, 'Parma socks,' and black, floppy tennis shoes? And who's that with him in green pedal-pushers, a pink blouse, and rollers? Does the pop-corn bag give them away?

Yes, it's tourist time in beautiful Chagrin Falls. It is also the time when the natives go out and mingle with the masses. To be an effective 'tourist,' put on your worst clothes and brush up on your 'Idonknow's and 'ain't's.

To be realistic, become proficient with such terms as, 'arustic' and 'quaint.' Refer to Chess'es Cracker Barrel as 'picturesque.' Remark upon the loveliness of the White Stallion. Admire such landmarks as Isaly's and the State Store.

Now, make your pilgrimage to the Falls, and leave your offering of empty Coke cans and candy wrappers. Your duties completed, you are free to leave in your Edsel. After a U-turn by the triangle, by way of farewell, you must hit a few pedestrians at the Bell Road light.

Wasn't that fun? Yes, with talent and a little practice, you too can become one of those marvelous creatures known as 'Chagrin Tourists.'

Senate Investigates Cowan - by Karen Smith

A government investigator may soon study the conditions in Mr. Cowan's tenth grade English class. He would be acting on reports that range from accusations of students being forced to adopt a new Greek religion to claims of advocating slave labor.

What actions cause these reports? The first may be attributed to "Words from the Gods." It has been claimed that while the class reads these words, Mr. Cowan, as high priest, tortures them. What else could produce the hideous groan? Inner sources prefer to attribute these sound effects to some aspect of the words themselves.

As for slave labor, the class has protested vigorously the nine books they were to have read in four weeks. The newly formed H.E.S.U. (Honors English Students' Union), Local La6, threatened strike, but compromises on both sides made this unnecessary. The school awaits further-developments.

The Thincalads are off and running

Harriers Triumph In League Meet

The Chagrin Cross Country team won the league championship in the conference meet by edging out West Geauga, 53-54 last month.

The thincalad's turning point came when they managed to bunch four runners in the top twelve places. Head coach John Hurst stated afterwards that the victory was what the team had been hoping for all year. The victory redeemed our team, after their defeats to Kenston and West G earlier in the season.

Heading the list of Tiger victors was Bob Miller, who finished in seventh place with a time of 10:28. Hot on his heels was Steve Bainbridge followed by Greg Goodrich, John Hagamen, Sam Osborne, and Joe Williams.

McDERMOTT AND GUARNIERI WIN

Dan McDermott and Al Guarnieri led their respective divisions in the 'tour' meet held in boys' physical education classes recently.

McDermott's time of 6:23 nosed out Chip Sinclair, Bob Camerato, John Zarack, and Steve Lusk in that order. Guarnieri, whose time was 6:13, was followed by Pete Cushing, Pete Carpenter, Kirt Rau, and Eric Hellekson.

Sixth period headed the junior-senior division with 36 points, while seventh period finished first for the freshmen and sophomores with a total of 28.

Basketball Outlook Hazy Wrestlers Expected To Shine

The outlook for the Tiger varsity basketball team, led by coach Glenn Wyville, is rather hazy. On the other hand, the future of Mr. Jim Hoppel's wrestlers looks bright.

Several roundballers who starred on last year's team are back. They include Paul Calvert, Rod Scott, Bob Furst, Bill Manlove, and Dave Quesinberry.

Roger Huelsman and Sam Osborne lead a long list of players from the junior varsity of last year. If the players work hard and the coaches do their usual fine job, the squad could surprise a few people.

The bulk of last year's championship wrestling team is back. They are Bob Camerato, Bob Welker, Steve Grubich, Don Tuson, Dan Ehrenbeit, Warren Wise, Bob Martinko, John Patton, and Bob Godwin.

Duke Gerald, Dave Gliba, Tom Hern, Dan Wallace, and Steve Bainbridge will vie for the vacated spots. If the team hustles and gets a few breaks the matmen should romp to the league title and go a long way on the road to the state finals.
