Co-ordinate Clubs?

Chagrin Falls High School has a wide variety of clubs, organizations, and activities which enable the student to find at least one extra-curricular program that coincides with his own interests and abilities.

The recent language club dinner was a fun and educational idea that was enjoyed by many. It has set an excellent precedent for other clubs. Why can't more groups combine for several activities and projects? This not only lightens the burden, but involves more students and, consequently, is more fun. For an example, it would seem logical for groups such as AFS and the language clubs to combine occasionally for the benefit of both groups or for clubs to take advantage of this newspaper for publicizing meetings and events.

Perhaps this idea could be expanded to the better coordination of all club activities. Several years ago there existed a group, Inter-Club Council, or ICC, which had meetings once a month and representatives from all organizations attended. These meetings acted as a central clearing house for ideas and projects. The return of the Council or a similar organization could be to the benefit of all. Groups would be better informed of each other's plans. This would give them an opportunity to request help from other organizations for projects, or to make plans for combined group activities. The elimination of over-lapping meetings and a more even distribution and clearer definition of fund raising ideas and activities could result.

For a more fulfilling, beneficial, and smoother run extra-curricular program, perhaps a plan similar to the one mentioned above could be initiated.

Letter to the Editor

The senior class officers would like to extend a special thanks to the stage crew who helped construct the entrance for the Homecoming dance. They spent many hours on it and did an excellent job. This club always works hard but doesn't get the recognition it deserves.

Thank you,

NHS Inducts 13 Seniors

National Honor Society, NHS, inducted thirteen new senior members Thursday, October 13, during a cake and punch reception held in the high school library.

The new members are Steve Bernard, Brad Bodwell, Polly Brown, Sharon Castle, John Clegg, Kelli Cotesworth, Cathy Fitzpatrick, Sissy Heck, Kathy Lerch, Paul Murphy, Dave Russell, Katie Stone, and Karyn Vincent.

Through this ceremony NHS, which is advised by Mr. Neal Wheatcraft, increased its membership to thirty. NHS will hold its next inductions in the spring of 1978, for any prospective juniors.

News Briefs

by Pat Freer and Annie Latuk

Recently, problems have arisen around the continued existence of the Leaders Club at Chagrin Falls High School.

President of Leaders Club, Bunky Waller, is hopeful that the girls currently in the club will show their interest by supporting its further existence. Since there were no initiations held last year, club membership has rapidly declined.

If the Leaders Club continues, future activities include a square dance and a campout.

At a recent meeting the Commons Activity Board (CAB) accepted 11 new members and discussed their future plans.

Tom Watterson will organize the painting on the far wall in the guys Commons John of the album cover of Queen's 'A Night at the Opera' and the installation of a bench.

On the agenda for next month is a billiards tournament, which is open to everyone. Prizes include gift certificates from Country Comforts and MacDonalds and an album. A Fifties Dress-up Day and Dance, an Elvis Presley look-a-like contest, and the purchase of amplifiers for the commons are also being planned.

Student Council has almost reached its goal of replacing the classes changing bell to that of music. The decisive point in this project was a vote taken recently, showing over half of the student and faculty in favor of this endeavor. Now final approval and installation are the only 2 factors that remain.

Student Council recently held a Student Council Faculty dinner. All council and faculty members and new students were invited. Future plans include a Student Council workshop, spirit week and the annual OABR.

Module Encloses Band and Choir

by Melissa Field

Wednesday, October 26, marked an important day for Chagrin Falls High School band and choir members. This was the day of installation of their "room within a room".

This room is a large sound-proof steel and glass module that consumes nearly the whole right hand corner of the band room. According to Band Director Dr. William Foley, "both the band and choir

Industrial Arts Club Enjoying Second Year

Chagrin Falls High School Industrial Arts Club is a growing group and enjoying its second year as an organized club.

The club meets every other Saturday at 10 a.m. in the Industrial Arts room under the direction of advisor Mr. William Muzevich. This year's officers are senior Steve Bernard, president; John Cressman, vice president; and Jeff Webster, secretary-treasurer.

"This year we are going to do more projects for the school, such as storage areas for the gym and art rooms," commented Bernard. The club is also looking into money-making projects and the profit will go towards several field trips. Members are also able to work on individual projects.

Mr. Muzevich commented, "Everybody has a good time and we get to know each other in a relaxed atmosphere. I am able to help students on a more individual basis than in the classroom."

The club urges all interested students to join them.

have been requesting this module for over a year." It was ordered in August from a manufacturer in Minnesota, using funds allocated by both the School Board and the Music Lovers Organization. Total cost has been estimated at around $9000.

The module will serve many much needed services for the band and choir. A piano has been set up inside the room.

This room enables Choir Director Mrs. Molly Macknin to hold special sectional rehearsals for about twenty singers, while regular choir practice is in session. Dr. Foley finds he too can hold special rehearsals for about 12-15 of his band members.

The module is said to have come at a very opportune time and will be used to its fullest extent in the years to come.

How would you like to hear Peter Frampton, the James Gang and the band, One Yere, play in the CFHS gym? Well, Lantern has come close to that.

TNT will be the band at the upcoming Lantern Dance, Nov. 12. Although TNT, a four-member band, is a fairly new group, all members have had previous experience with famous artists. The drummer is the only original member of One Yere, the bass player played with the James Gang and another member played guitar with Peter Frampton on his last tour. They play the current top 40 rock & roll, including Aerosmith, Peter Frampton and Boston. The dance will be from 8-12 in the gym and admission will be $1.75 at the door. For a rowdy time at a reasonable price—Nov. 12.

Great Expectations...

Prism Asks for Submissions

by Karen Swift

Great Expectations may sound like a good name for a book by Charles Dickens or an Eric Carmen song, but actually it is the atmosphere surrounding this year's Prism staff. Prism is the Chagrin Falls High School art and literary magazine featuring student submissions.

Prism's Managing Editor is senior Helen Wu. The publication consists of two active boards. The literary board meets almost every week to review submitted poems, short stories, songs, and other ditties. The work is read aloud, no names are mentioned, and critiqued with stressed objectivity. In the judging of a submission, grade levels are also considered. Board members either vote to accept or reject a piece, but the final decision lies with the editors, since there are always more poems than space allows. Pat Freer and Julie Webster are co-literary editors this year and Mr. Terry Sheban acts as their literary advisor.

The art board, edited by Karen Swift, meets not quite as frequently, due to the constant tie up of art work in student shows. This year they will get together on the same night as the literary board so that a better harmony can be produced in the final magazine. Art work is also judged in the same manner as literary pieces. Mrs. Doris Luna works with the art board as advisor.

Literary submissions should be placed in the Prism box by the Guidance Office or given to any of the editors or Mr. Sheban. Art submissions of any nature should be placed in the portfolio in the upper art room or given to Mrs. Luna, Karen Swift or Helen Wu.

If a piece of work is to appear anonymously in the publication, a written request must be made upon submission.

This year's Prism hopes to expand the number of pages and include color pictures. A lower price is also intended. Any suggestions are welcome and help is still needed on all committees. According to editor Helen Wu, "Prism is looking forward to an excellent year with lots of student help and cooperation."

The brand new and exclusive "STARMAKER'S TEEN BOARD" of The Academy is seeking a limited number of qualified high school students to take an active part in an exciting and fun-filled program of professional training for Fashion, Films and TV, along with special TEEN BOARD activities. The Academy will provide valuable scholarships for accepted TEEN BOARD Members. Call Janice Renee today at 921-3281 for information.

Bit of FALL

Typical Tommy Turns "Hunk"

by Linda Lampert

Tommy Typical strode into CFHS, looking snazzy in his red plaid K-Mart shirt and Wrangler jeans. It was his first day of high school. He asked a senior how to get to the gym. The senior smiled and explained very explicitly. Three minutes later, Tommy was standing in the Commons John. Perhaps high school wasn't all it was cracked up to be.

But the rest of the fall went fairly smoothly. He didn't mind running the agonizing "tour" or having to break the ice before going swimming.

The only thing that bothered him in the least was study hall. But fortunately he was able to escape to the Biology room. (Out of the frying pan and into the fire.) Here, not only were the teachers um . . . er. . . interesting, but the room was full of adventure. You could dissect frogs, have rubber band fights, throw dead fish and even enjoy the senior biologist's plant of the week; Cannabis.

But the highlight of the days were the freshmen bake sales with Suzy CF. As freshmen class secretary, he sat with Suzy, who was treasurer, behind the table. By the end of the year they had made $37.50 together. He even asked her to Homecoming, at which point she totally lost her composure and laughed. Oh well, maybe next year.

By the next year, Tommy had grown to 5' 4" and was playing football on the JV team. Even though he was third string, he still enjoyed the Saturday morning games.

Tommy also enjoyed beating up the freshmen in gym class, although health class was a bummer.

The highlight of the entire year though, was when he got to be the "Jostens Ring Man." Suzy CF even placed her order with him. She was in his Basic Comp class and wrote great essays like "Why I Want to be a Cosmetic Company Executive" and "It's Not What's Inside That Counts." Tommy, in turn, wrote essays like "My Summer on Grandpa's Farm" and "My VW."

The VW had been given to him by his parents for his 16th birthday. He used it to go to Macs during his free period, now that he had Commons. Tommy also became a great pool player, although he seldom was allowed to use the tables.

By the beginning of his junior year, Tommy had grown, not only physically, but also in courage. He decided to park his car in the senior parking lot one day. He told his parents later that the car had been run over by a Mack truck. Tommy had at least made a name for himself. He even got in the Lantern's Gossip Column.

Tommy was on the second string of the varsity football team that year and not only did he play against Aurora, but Chardon too!

Scholastically, Tommy was not doing too well. His chemistry experiment blew up and the fire department had to be called. In drama, he played Suzy CF's husband, but Suzy caught a sudden case of pneumonia the day of the production.

That spring Tommy finally had his VW fixed. He drove in the junior caravan and was arrested for wreckless driving.

and running a red light. It was a fine way to start his senior year.

But over the summer something miraculous happened, Tommy became a "hunk". That fall he was the star football player, making 12 touchdowns and being named to the PD Dream Team four times. He collected 436 pumpkins for the roll in his new truck. He became quite a catch and even Suzy had her eye on him.

Meanwhile, Tom was having a great time, majoring in Commons and freshmen girls. He went to Homecoming with Sally CF, Suzy's little sister. Suzy stayed home and watched the Waltons.

GOODNIGHT

SUZY!

Football, basketball, and tennis top the list of school activities for this freshman guy. He was born in Cleveland on August 13, 1962 with brown hair and brown eyes. His older brother is a senior at CFHS. He took part in the Homecoming ceremonies.

This freshman girl has been a resident of Chagrin since March 15, 1963, the day she was born. She has very blue eyes, brownish-blond hair, and freckles. She enjoys swimming. Her sister is a senior at CFHS.

Last issue's baby pictures were sophomores Lynn Moore, and Darren Petruschke.

Krauts Sponsored Giant Pork in Cafe

by Melissa Field

The Chagrin Falls High School Foreign Language Clubs have been sponsoring many activities involving each of the other language clubs along with their individual events.

The German Club, advised by Mr. Mario Gerhardt, holds the busiest schedule of all the clubs. It held the Foreign Language Potluck Dinner in the Commons on October 26 for all the language clubs. Members from the other clubs brought foods that represented the culture they studied. President of the German Club, Dave Hoag, felt the dinner was a great success and that all who came enjoyed themselves. The German Club is also planning another multi-club event, a ping pong tournament to be held on November 9 in the commons. Their annual fall trip to the Hofbrau Haus is slated for November 18. December 19 will be the date for the German Club Christmas Caroling Party.

The French Club, lead by advisor Mrs. Virginia Coligon and President Jacqui Brandon, intends to participate in the German's Ping Pong Tournament. French Pastry Shop bake sales have proved to be a big fund raiser for the French Club and they plan to continue these sales throughout the year. They are also planning a trip to a French Restaurant before the year ends.

Recently the Spaniards invaded the Chagrin Falls Roller Rink for one of the many roller skating parties scheduled during the year. All the language clubs were invited to attend this affair and according to advisor Mrs. Carolyn Hanson and President Debbie Patrick, "All who did show up had a great time." In addition to that event, they sponsored their own Halloween Party.

The Latin Club headed by advisor Mrs. Lois Klingensmith and President Kelli Cotesworth, have kept busy this past month with a Latin Halloween Party.

Any Chagrin student taking a foreign language is urged to join a language club and join all the fun.

"Queen Pooch" Reigns Supreme

by Inoe Alle

How many of you know of the award which outclasses that of Homecoming Queen, Prom Queen, or even Blossom Queen? We refer, of course, to the honor of being selected "Queen Pooch of the Week". The recipient of this award is selected once a week, on Mondays, by the Fifth Period Study Group. (A well known organization that, incidentally, does very little studying.) On Tuesdays the Queen-elect is crowned. This event takes place in the front foyer, with a set of paper "Pooch Ears", to the tune of "How Much Is That Doggie In The Window". Said a spokesperson for the sponsoring organization, "While the Queen has no real power for her reigning week, she is allowed to wear the ears whenever she wants." (With this clue in mind, try to guess this week's Queen Pooch.)

It has come to our attention that there is a certain junior boy who is trying to rush certain things a bit. There are

"THE EVOLUTION OF CLOTHING FADS"

In the World of Fashion Classics Make a Comeback

by Lee Brown

Once again fall is upon us. The temperature drops, the wind blows and the days get a little shorter. But these changes in weather are only a few of the changes taking place in Chagrin. Clothes too are making a switch from summer to winter styles and this year the big switch is back to the classics.

Wool, angora, tweeds, and plaids are the fabrics and the emphasis is towards a soft, pretty look. Dirndl pleated and kilt skirts are all back especially when they are teamed up with big cowl-neck sweaters.

Peasant dresses are in for more dressy occasions and even pants have a definite place this fall. They go well with sweaters and blouses but are especially noticeable in two and three piece suits.

As far as accessories go, this is the year for shawls. A skirt and top becomes a whole outfit and a plain dress gets a boost with a shawl. Boots have returned from last year and are becoming just as popular with skirts as they are with pants.

Jeans are still common among both sexes but are being dressed up with pretty blouses and sweaters by the girls and even the tee shirt is making way for pullovers and button down shirts for the guys.

By the looks of things at Chagrin it would seem that we're moving up in the fashion world by going back to the classics.

Seniors Prevail in Football Game

by Debbie Goodrich

The seniors were victorious over the juniors in the annual touch football game. The senior offense racked up an eight point total, while the defense left the juniors scoreless.

Senior, Janet Gregory, earned the only touchdown early in the first quarter. Katie Stone ran the conversion.

Later in the game, seniors Debbie Hyde and Janet Gregory, both made touchdowns, but both plays were called back on offside penalties on the seniors.

Highlights for the junior team were interceptions by Kelly Fury and Sara Easley.

Both teams worked equally hard for a month learning plays and conditioning under the instruction of their class coaches. The senior coaches included: Russ Galimore, Ed Gottschalk, Bob Hill, Jeff Hoopes, Steve Jefferies, Jim Lorentz, Reed McLellan and J. B. Raftus. The junior coaching staff consisted of: John Bartley, Mike Clawson, Cary Gluf, Mark Horan, Doug Hubbard, John Jicha, Andy Maggersupp and Scott Miller.

At halftime Dudley's Kazoo

Band entertained the fans and the junior cheerleaders displayed their hidden talent as they got out onto the field and did a cheer.

The Kazoo Band was back on request after their fine performance at the junior-senior girls' football assembly. In popular demand was their version of the "Adams Family" song. The junior dance team, better known as the "Filets", were also a great hit at the assembly as they shook their hips to "Jump Shout Boogie". And both the junior and senior cheerleaders can be credited with putting on one of the best pep assemblies ever.

Hopes for Arousing More Tiger Spirit

by Jill Kwasny

The cheerleaders were very busy this past summer. They began their practices in late June in order to be prepared for cheerleading camp.

In the third week of August both the varsity football and varsity basketball squads traveled to Malone College in Canton for a camp sponsored by the Dynamic Cheerleaders Association. The Chagrin cheerleaders overall opinion of the camp was that they made many new friends and gained several ideas. Both squads learned many new cheers, chants, mounts, and pom-pom routines. The camp also offered numerous ideas for fund-raising and spirit-raising. The last day of camp was the major event, competition, where approximately 200 girls, which made up about 29 squads, competed. Both of Chagrin's varsity squads finished well with qualifying scores in the 190's out of 200. "Now we know what our squad can do," concluded head varsity basketball cheerleader, Kim Hague. She added, "Though camp was fun, we had to work hard for about 12 hours each day". . . While varsity football cheerleader Liz Ellefson stated, "The camp was hard, but fun. The squads enjoyed working together".

Both squads have completed their share of the soccer season, with only a few more games left for the football cheerleaders, while the basketball squad waits anxiously for their season to begin. Practicing on Wednesdays from 3:30 to 5:00 is a must for all cheerleaders and they are also expected to practice more on their own time.

Varsity basketball and varsity football squads both have their ideas about raising spirit in the school. Kim states, "We hope to get the school more involved in our activities", while Liz says, "We look in spirit books and talk to other people." Through the ideas and actions of both squads, the Tiger spirit should undoubtedly improve within the year.

Even with the interception by Junior Kelly Fury, the senior women were victorious in the recent flag football game.

Guy's Cross Country Advance in Sectionals

by Debbie Goodrich

The boys' Cross Country team recently completed their season. Although the team was unsatisfied with their performance in the Chagrin Valley League meets, they fared respectfully well in the tournaments.

Out of seven members on the varsity team, five are returning lettermen. The team includes runners: Gregg Greenough, Jeff Baker, Peter Garrett, Doug Shafer, Jon McKenna, Kirk Lundstrom, and Phil Corcoran.

Even though the Tigers managed to knock off three area rivals, West Geauga, Orange and Twinsburg, they failed to earn a winning record in the C.V.C. In reference to their 3-4 C.V.C. record, a disappointed team member, Peter Garrett stated, "We didn't have as good a season as we should of had."

The Chagrin team proved its ability as they placed fourth out of 15 teams at the Warrensville Invitational on Thursday, October 13th. In individual competition Gregg Greenough finished 8th, boasting a 13:49 time and Jeff Baker secured 11th place with a 13:59 run. In the C.V.C. meet however, the Tigers were unable to place up to their expectations. The team turned out 5th out of 8 C.V.C. teams.

On October 22nd the Cross Country team went to the Sectionals Tournament. A total of 12 teams ran in these Sectionals. Chagrin captured a second place team position, allowing them to advance to Districts. From the Sectionals, the top three teams moved on to the Districts. Accompanying the Chagrin team to Districts were Kenston and Chardon. First place, Kenston, had beat Chagrin by only 7 points in the Sectionals. On Saturday, October 29th, the Tigers competed in the Districts, where out of 15 teams, the top 5 went to State. However, the results of the District Tournament were too late to make the Lantern deadline.
